By GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Criminal Court, Chicago, August 7.An effort by the defense lawyers to shorten the Leopold-Loeb trial by the elimination of a long list of lay-witnesses on both sides failed today.Counsel for the two young slayers offered to dispense with more than a score of witnesses, recruited from the relatives and friends of "Babe" and "Dicky" if the State would agree to a similar reduction in its list of witnesses.
After weighing the proposition behind closed doors for half an hour, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, turned it down and announced that the trial of the young slayers would go on along the lines originally laid down.Within a few minutes after Crowe rejected the defense's offer, counsel for the two boys put on the stand the first of a long list of these lay-witnesses to testify to the peculiarities and eccentricities that marked the college careers of Loeb and Leopold.He was Max Schryer, a classmate of Loeb, at the University of Michigan.
He said he had known Loeb for years and "knew him very well at college."Under the careful questioning of Darrow, Schryer declared that "Dicky" had always been a nervous boy at college, that he drank a great deal at times, and that he was a persistent cigarette smoker.Crowe objected to the general description of Loeb as "nervous" and demanded that Schryer be specific, which he did to the extent of saying that Dicky had twitching of the hands and features, and that he had seen him faint several times."How about his responsibility?"
asked Darrow."Well, he was the type of individual we didn't trust very much—" he began the witness, but Crowe broke in on him with objections."That is your conclusion?" Crowe said, and Judge Caverly sustained the objection to the point of instructing the witness to be more specific.
Schryer said he had lived in the same fraternity house with Loeb at Ann Arbor. They were both seniors. A privilege of being a senior, he said, was supervision over Freshmen, but this privilege was never granted young Loeb."What do you know about his reading?" asked Darrow."He was known as a reader of dime novels, and detective stories."

"What was he called?"

"I object, its immaterial," objected Crowe.Caverly sustained it. Had Schryer been allowed to answer he would have answered "Buster Bugs" a nick name applied to Richard Loeb by some of his college classmates. He was the youngest boy ever to graduate from the school.Crowe made constant objections to Darrow's line of questioning as it proceeded. Darrow asked if there was anything peculiar about Loeb's laugh, and Crowe objected. After a wrangle the witness was allowed to reply that Loeb's laugh was uniformly loud and boisterous.Darrow's next question also produced a wrangle. It was whether Schryer had formed any opinion as to the "childishness or immaturity" of Dicky. Crowe contended that the witness was not competent to express such an opinion.Judge Caverly tried to pour oil on the troubled waters by pointing out that the state would have a chance to cross-examine the lay witnesses. He finally denied the objection and Schryer said:"It is my impression he was very childish.""Dicky" Loeb's boyhood sweethearts were among those summoned.
He was a popular boy in the school to which his wealthy parents sent him. He had lots of friends, among them many girls, and among these lat-Anglo-Russian Treaty Opposed in CommonsLondon, Aug. 7. (INS).—The storm over the Anglo-Russian agreement embodying two treaties—one general and one commercial—broke out again in Commons today when former Premier David Lloyd George and Sir Robert Horne insisted that the general treaty should not be signed until it could be debated.Premier MacDonald said he wanted to sign the pact this afternoon, pointing out it would not be operative until after Commons may amend or reject it.The treaty has been published. Soviet Russia recognizes the Russian pre-war debts and agrees to the appointment of claims commissions to fix the amounts that shall be paid. After an agreement has been reached to satisfy holders of Russian bonds, the Soviet will obtain credits from England.Newspapers severely criticized the agreement, claiming it was not de-nite enough as it does not mention specific sums.Ex-Gov. Walton Is Ahead
For Senate In OklahomaOklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 7.
(INS).—Former Governor J. C. Walton, long an enemy of the K. K. K., today had gathered strong leading the counting of votes last night for nomination for the U. S. Senate on the Democratic ticket over Congressman E. B. Howard, endorsed by Klan.Walton's majority in 2,271 precincts out of 2,996 was 4,127. The vote: Walton 62,348; Howard 58,221.Parley Stott, of Turkey Hill, is suffering from dropsy and has been quite ill for some time.FIVE KILLED, TWO DYING AS RESULT
OF TWO ACCIDENTSNew Brunswick, N. J., Aug. 7.
(INS).—Five persons are dead and 2 are dying today as the result of two railroad crossing accidents at the same spot here.A Pennsylvania train bound to New York, struck an automobile last night and killed two persons. A train from New York this morning crashed into another machine, killing three.
Both automobiles were struck at Millstone crossing.The dead are Mr. and Mrs. David G. Lester, Oakland, Cal., Thomas Miller, Rey Cole and Curtis Clarke, of New Brunswick. John Sehesja and Raymond Soden, of New Brunswick are dying.Lester was driving with his wife and a friend, when he saw the train too late. The train struck the car broadside and dragged it 100 yards down the track.The accident this morning occurred when Miller, according to witnesses, tried to cross the track ahead of the train.It is indicative of the strange association of Leopold and Loeb, and indicative of the difference between the two young slayers, that none of Leopold's girl friends were summoned to testify concerning him.
Leopold had few girl friends; he had none at all with whom he was on sufficiently familiar terms to have them come to Judge Caverly's court and aid in the effort to save him from the gallows. Leopold was not very popular—except with Dicky Loeb.Word reached Chicago today that Mrs. Albert R. Loeb, mother of Dicky, is returning to Chicago from Charlevoix, Mich. the Loeb summer estate where she has been prostrated since her 19 year old son confessed to the frank crime.Whether Mrs. Loeb will testify or not had not been determined, according to the defense lawyers."Her physicians have told me" said Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel, "that if she goes on the stand the shock and strain of it may kill her."Noted Surgeon Takes His Own Life At Phila.Philadelphia, Aug. 7. (INS).—Dr.
Robert Le Conte, one of the most noted surgeons in the country, shot and killed himself here yesterday in the office of his home which has been closed for several days.The body was discovered by relatives late last night who became worried after the doctor failed to keep a dinner engagement.It is thought he was dead several hours when the body was discovered.
An examination of the pistol with which he killed himself showed he was forced to pull the trigger three times before the cartridge exploded.No motive has been ascribed for the suicide. The last line of a note which he left in which he said "I am not responsible for what I am about to do," was the only part given out by police. Dr. Le Conte had just returned from Bar Harbor, Me., where his wife is spending the summer.Dr. Le Conte was a former president of the American Surgical Association and was decorated by the French and Belgian governments for his services during the war. He was on the staff of several hospitals here.Confessed Murderer Adds Further DetailsMiddleburg, Pa., Aug. 7. (INS).—
All the revolting details of a cold blooded murder were known to police today as Ralph Shadle, 17, continued his confession—re-enacting the crime at the scene.Shadle confessed killing Harvey Willow last December, and implicates the widow of the slain man, who, he says, instigated the murder.The youthful slayer yesterday took police to the farm, had one of them stand where Willow had stood, walked a few paces away and assumed the position he was in as he fired the fatal shots.The tree where the victim stood still holds part of the shot that killed Willow, and was cut down at the direction of District Attorney Miller.
It will be offered as evidence.The widow, whose affection for the boy is said to be the cause of the brutal murder was given a hearing before a Justice of the peace. She made no statement and was led back to jail apparently dazed and talking incoherently.Murders His Family And Then Takes His Own LifeBuffalo, N. Y., August 7. (INS).—
After playing his wife and his two young sons as they slept in their beds early today, Henry Hopkins Lyon electrical engineer, retired to his own bedroom, apparently reloading the revolver with which he had killed his family, stretched himself out on his bed and put a bullet into his right cheek. He was taken to Columbus hospital where he died.No reason has been advanced for the tragedy, the family having been prosperous and happy.Lieut. Wade's New Plane Is En Route To Meet HimNorfolk, Va., Aug. 7. (INS).—In command of Lieut. George C. Mac-Donald and Victor F. Bartrandias, a
Field United States army air station at 8 a. m. today via Keyport, N. J. and Boston, for Picton Harbor, Nova Scotia, where it will be turned over to Lieut. Leigh Wade, round the world
United States army flyer, on his arrival there aboard the cruiser Richmond. The plane will reach its destination tomorrow night. It will be rechristened "Betsy II" when Lieut.
Wade resumes his flight westward at Picton Harbor.The air distance between Norfolk and Picton Harbor is approximately 950 miles.

NO OTHER INTEREST

By DAVID M. CHURCH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)London, August 7.—Ambassador Frank B. Kellogg's letter announcing that the United States will participate in the proposed conference of ministers of finance in Paris after the conclusion of the London reparations parley, does not mean that the United States is willing to discuss inter-allied war debts, it was explained at the American embassy this afternoon.The United States refuses to discuss war debts at this time, maintaining they are definite financial obligations which do not admit of discussion except as to the manner in which they shall be paid.It is understood here that the Paris conference will be confined only to discussion of the distribution of German reparations. The United States is interested in this issue, due to moneys owing on account of the upkeep of the United States army of occupation on the Rhine.One feature of the German combination which is engaging much attention from the experts committee is the request for greater German representation upon the arbitration boards.
The delegates are hopeful and do not anticipate any serious trouble in reaching an agreement. It is probable that a "trade" can be made on the question of Ruhr evacuation, France and Belgium promising to evacuate in exchange for an agreement on the part of Germany for an inquiry into Germany's military strength and a promise that the German military police be "demilitarized."ROUND THE WORLD
AT STOP IN ICELANDBy DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Staff CorrespondentOn board U. S. Cruiser Richmond, off Reykjavik, Iceland, August 7. (By Wireless).—Lieut. Lowell Smith and Erik Nelson, remaining of the United States army pilots who set out to fly round the world, settled down here today to an indefinite wait for the establishing of an air base at Angmagssalik, Greenland, their next objective.The ice-breaker quest is being chartered to break a lane through the ice lying off Angmagssalik, as this is considered the only available landing spot on the East Greenland coast.Smith has been hopeful that the delay might not be over five days, but he said today he did not know how long it would be.It is considered too great a risk for the flyers to omit the stop at Angmagssalik because it is about 850 miles from Reykjavik to Iqviut, the next stopping place, and the planes have a fuel capacity for only 960 miles.The weather here has been favorable for flying and only the ice floes off the Greenland coast have prevented the intrepid Yankees from continuing their air voyage homeward.

From Gasoline TaxHarrisburg, Aug. 6.—Clearfield county will receive $7,933.50 as its one-fourth share of the emergency gasoline tax of two cents a gallon collected by the State during the first six months of the year. The report issued by State Treasurer Snyder for the period ending June 30, 1924, shows gasoline taxes amounting to $31,735 were collected in Clearfield county during the past six months.Receipts for the first year under the emergency tax totaled $7,623, 940.79, as compared with $3,255,596.
63 at the one cent tax has been collected from two cent tax since July 1, 1923, and a total of 381,197,039 gallons of gasoline is represented in the collection. In the past six months $3,941,680.62 was collected, of which $985,420 will be returned to the counties in the proportion of one-half cent for every two cents collected.Yields $12,906,000
The first year's operation of the emergency tax shows the gasoline tax will yield approximately $12,000,000 during the two-year period, considerably more than was estimated during the session of the legislature. From the two cent tax $1,905,985 was returned to the counties during its first year's operation while at the old one cent rate the counties received $1, 627,784.Collections for Western Pennsylvania counties for the six months period from January to July 1, 1924, of which they will receive one fourth were as follows:Allegheny $576,147; Armstrong $26, to the occasion and announced that formalities and coats should be cast aside for the present occasion, and, after "stripping for action" every inforced concrete construction, together with a few highly interesting sidelights on the new grandstand. Mr.

his remarks were greatly appreciated.President Gurney announced that the next meeting would be held on Tuesday, Aug. 12th, at Lakeside

the inter-club meet participated in by

D'VIS SOUGHT HELP

By KENNETH CLARK
(International News Service Staff
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 7.—
Strongly entrenched behind the La Follette-Wheeler line, the heavy guns of the American Federation of Labor today swung from the Democrats to lay down a new barrage against the Republicans.This time Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential nominee, was made the special target of the federation's artillery that already has raked John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for the Presidency.Matthew Woll, official spokesman for Samuel Gompers, Federation president, in a formal statement following the secret session today of the Federation's executive council here, declared that while "Dawes takes second place on the Republican ticket, he is doing his best to take first place in the ranks of bourbonism.""It is particularly desirous that the correspondence between William B.
Wilson and Samuel Gompers should not lead to the conclusion that the American Federation of Labor is expressing itself in only on direction," Woll said."We have been gathering a considerable mass of material relating to the record of Dawes in connection with labor and this we intend to use as the time seems opportune.""We referred to the letter of Wilson, former Secretary of Labor, to Gompers urging the Federation not to
Out of Coal Business by Well Informed
Who Differ On Cause And RemedyBy CHARLES O'NEIL (Secretary Coal Producers Association.)At a gathering of coal men recently, Charles O'Neill, secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Producers Association, delivered an address in which he outlined in considerable detail what he considered the basic cause for much of the depression that is existing in the coal industry of this district at the present time. The speech, as the conclusions of one who has been a close student of the problem, is worth reading, the text being as follows:The bituminous coal industry in Central Pennsylvania is in the most depressing condition that has been witnessed for many years. Our production is considerably less than one-half of our capacity, and in the present month is running on the basis of about 40 per cent of actual productive capacity. Such condition means of course great financial losses to owners of mining properties, great financial losses to the coal carrying roads serving our mines, and great financial losses to the miners and the business men throughout the 14 counties that make up our district. Measured in dollars, the losses to all classes of citizens and to all communities run into millions of dollars monthly.If these losses were merely the toll we were paying for our share of the general depressed business conditions obtaining throughout the country and conditions would change for better with a general increase in business, we would have little cause for worry about the future prosperity of this industry and the communities of this section of the state. Many people mistakenly believe this to be the case.Coal is the basic industry of Central Pennsylvania and its general prosperity depends upon coal production almost entirely. Part of the difficulty of our business is due, of course, to the general business depression, but much of it is due to other causes which lie deeper and which must be rectified before our district can againassume its place in the bituminous coal mining and the proportionate share of the general prosperity of the country due to us permanently secured for our district.In giving expression to my opinion, I wish it understood at the outset that this opinion was formed by investigation, out of experience and with some thoughtful consideration, and it is the result of analysis of facts apparent to all familiar with the mining industry and obtainable by everyone.The conclusions have not been reached on the basis of partisanship, neither are they offered as an apology.
They are a statement of facts.During the first six months of 1924,
the United States produced 227,000, 000 tons. Central Pennsylvania produced 19,440,000 tons or 8.5 per cent.
The figures show that from the period of 1890 to 1910 the bituminous coal production in the United States approximately doubled every decade.
From 1910 to the present time the proportionate increases in coal production has not been nearly so great as in the preceding twenty years.
During this period the State of Pennsylvania has dropped in production from 38 per cent to a figure varying between 25 and 30 per cent, while West Virginia has increased its production from 6.5 per cent to approximately 20 per cent of the total production of the country. Our district has decreased its production from approximately 14.5 per cent in 1890 to 8.5 per cent during the first six months of 1924. Bear in mind that 1 per cent of the total production of the country means, roughly, 5,000,000 tons.This constant decrease in the production of Pennsylvania and Central Pennsylvania and the constant increase in the production of the states of West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee shows the effect of the cause operating to the detriment of our district that cannot be explained by the general rise and fall of business.

By JOHN BROPHY
(Pres. District No. 2, U. M. W. of A.)President John Brophy, of Dist-
No. 2, United Mine Workers, read a partial text of the speech delivered recently by Charles O'Neill, secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Producers Association, and has made reply to the assertions as set forth by Mr.
O'Neill. Mr. Brophy claims that the condition existing in District 2 is similar to that existing in the non-union fields and that a reduction in wages will not bring about any better stabilization of the coal industry. His statement is as follows:"Ever since the scale agreement was signed by the Operators' Association of Central Pennsylvania and District No. 2, United Mine Workers, the Association has been carrying on a campaign of propaganda to show that the policies of the Mine Workers are inimical to the best interests of this district, and are responsible for the lack work in the district.""In keeping with this policy, Mr.
Charles O'Neill, secretary of the Operators' Association, at a banquet recently held in DuBois, made an address in which he submitted figures and adduced arguments in support of his contention for a lower wage scale for the mine. Thus Mr. O'Neill contends is necessary in order to secure business for the district.""The trouble with Mr. O'Neill's statement is that it conveys the impression that the union fields alone are suffering from slack work. Such is not the case and no one knows this better than Mr. O'Neill. All districts are affected by slack work, non-union as well as union. The last report issued by the U. S. Geological Survey for week ending July 13th shows non-union Westmoreland county with a percentage of full time output of 41.1 per cent; non-union Maryland
37.6 per cent, while Central Pennsylvania is given at 29.4 per cent. The endorse presidential candidates until after Davis' acceptance speech. Gompers replied that the suggestion was "utterly impossible and inconceivable." At the same time, the Federation chief denied Wilson's statement that Davis took the lead in passage of such labor legislation as the Clayton act and the Adamson law, and in averting the threatened 1917 railroad strike.

Gompers also pointed out that Davis, shortly after his nomination, had tried to arrange an interview, and also sought to get from the labor chief "a statement of questions in which labor is chiefly interested at the moment." Gompers offered to meet Davis "at any time designated by you (Davis)," but could not "submit questions which would not be equally submitted to other candidates for the presidency."

"I have heard nothing further from Davis," said Gompers, discussing the subject.

Well said: "It is not impossible that both sides may seek to recover some of their lost favor through the medium of acceptance speeches, but no amount of talk can change a record of action. We have had about thirty conversational friendships."

"For example," he continued, "there is a consistent anti-union activity on the part of General Dawes. Dawes served in the world war. So did many thousands trade unionists. So did

Samuel Gompers. During these tense months, General Dawes was not saying anything at all slanderous about trade unionists. Neither was any other politician or any other general in the army.

"But no sooner is General Dawes back in his office in the Central Trust Company of Illinois, at Chicago, than he began organization of what he calls 'the minute men of the constitution.'"

"This organization has concerned itself chiefly fighting the organizations of labor and in upholding the right of judges to issue injunctions which have no warrant in law or in the constitution and which was used in industrial disputes, order workers to do what they have a lawful right to refrain from doing and order them not to do things which they have a lawful right to do."

"General Dawes has said that Samuel Gompers and other trade union officials are more concerned about right of union men to assault and murder peaceful citizens than about upholding the law of the land."

"No one has made a more vicious and unwarranted declaration than that."

AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Ninety seven game law violators have been placed upon the blacklist of the State Game Commission and will be denied licenses to hunt during the coming season.

A list of the men who have been punished for their disregard of the game laws was mailed today to all the game officers and county treasurers in the State. The treasurers were asked to see that no license to hunt are issued to the men whose names are included in the blacklist. Applications for hunting licenses are now being filed with the county treasurers in all sections of the State and the county officials are charged with the task of seeing that no men whose licenses have been revoked do not secure the permit to hunt.

Every variety of game law violation is included in the list of revocations. Killing of songbirds, hunting out of season, discharging fire arms while intoxicated and slaughtering of animals in excess of the legal limit resulted in the major portion of the revocations. Many of the hunters were placed upon a two year blacklist while others are to be denied licenses for one year.

The men who have been punished for infractions of the game laws are liable to a fine of $40 for each day they hunt in the event that they secure licenses under their own or assumed names. A similar fine is also to be levied if they seek to circumvent the punishment by hunting without a license.

The number of license revocations forms but a very small percentage of the total number of 500,000 licenses issued last year. Apparently the sportsmen are a law abiding group for there have been but 296 licenses revoked in the entire history of the Game Commission.

Included in the list of men punished by the Game Commission are sportsmen from every county in the State. Clearfield county furnishes just eight of the total.

Of this number, John Gnae, of DuBois, appears to have been the worst offender. He will be unable to secure a hunter's license in Pennsylvania until on and after May 1, 1928. We do not recall the circumstances of his violation.

L. W. Smith and G. W. Hollobaugh, of Penfield, will not be able to secure a hunter's license until May 1, 1926. Smith and Hollobaugh are put on the blacklist because of an illegal doe which Hollobaugh shot at a lick while acting in conjunction with Smith, he alleged, the latter being a part of the deer.

Raymond Anderson, of Pottersdale, and Joe and J. An Kofroski, of Karthaus, another trio of "lick-shooters," are also blacklisted until May 1, 1926.

Patrick Dullen, of Hawk Run, and G. W. Moore, of Bradford township, are not eligible for a license to hunt until May 1, 1926, their violations of the game laws being of a minor nature. Compared to those of Gnu Smith and Hollobaugh.

A crew of men under the direction of Forest Ranger M. A. Barr of the

Sinemahoning Forest District, is engaged in rebuilding the old Hoover Road from its intersection in Karthaus township with the Karthaus-Sinemahoning township road a distance of seven miles to the present road at Driftwood.

When completed this road will provide a short direct route between Cameron and Clearfield counties, the distance from Driftwood to Karthaus being 19 miles. At the present time it is necessary to travel roundabout routes through Clinton and Elk counties.

The opening of this Hoover Road is in accord with the Dept. of Forests and Waters' plan for the protection and development of the Sinemahoning State Forest, which comprises forest land in Cameron, Clearfield, Clinton and Elk counties.

This route should be an attractive one to tourists and campers, extending as it does through solid woodland and one of the largest unsettled sections of the State, abounding with large and small game and beautiful forest scenery.

Hunt Four Children, Kidnappers' Victims

Jamesburg, N. Y., Aug. 7 (INS).—A score of Jersey towns and villages united today in a hunt for four children whose parents have reported to police that they were kidnaped. The children are Richard and Louise Yetman, twins, and Gladys Cussell, 11, and her brother, Thomas, 8. The parents told authorities that on July 28 the children had been taken to Coney Island by a woman who since has sent postcards from an address that proved to be fictitious.

The Principle Is Right

The EASY Vacuum Electric WASHER

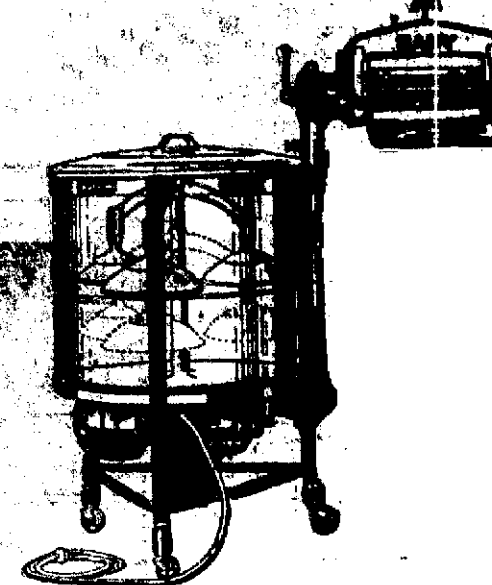

Is the result of 46 years' conscientious development of a basic idea, fundamentally right, namely, the use of the air pressure and suction principle in washing clothes.

In Grandmother's day, the housewives all knew that the "mortal come on the end of the stick" would wash clothes quicker, cleaner and with less wear and tear than by the use of the rub-board. So it has been up to the present time. The modern way to wash clothes is expressed in the fully developed "EASY" Washing Machine. Sturdy, clean cut, bright and sanitary, the "EASY" awaits the touch of a button to do your bidding.

You owe it to your own future happiness and health to make it a point to have us explain this labor-saver to you.

non-union and so often quoted by the Operators' Association as being an active competitor, shows 39.7 per cent. Mr. O'Neil ought to soon see how futile his efforts are to convince the Mine Workers' Union that a wage reduction is going to better the conditions of the mine workers. Wage reductions in non-union districts have not produced steady work for those districts. The miners here know this and will not be misled by Mr. O'Neil's sophistry.

We expect the Operators' Association to carry out the three-year contract which they signed. Improved working time will come to this and other districts, and with increased business activities, and we have every reason to believe that within the next few weeks there will be some improvement in coal demand and more work at the mines.

REEDSVILLE MEETS DEFEAT

The Reedsville girls' volleyball team was defeated for the first time last evening in a match with the East End girls 13-11 and 15-8. The East End girls put up their best game of the season on all deserving credit for their victory. They had no easy time however for the Reedsville girls kept putting them hard to the finish and still retain their lead in the league. The defeat brings the teams closer together and will put new interest in the contest. A number of rooters were on hand for both teams. The line-ups follow:

Reedsville: Mary and Betty Walker, Ruth and Mable Bloom, Margaret Ryan, Emelie Bain and Nellie McCoy.
East End: Gladys Adams, Edythe French, "Bill" Johnson, Leota Turner, Viola Hart.

by during the period of 1910 to 1920 was because of the abnormal situation created by the Great War. When practically all of the allied nations purchased war materials from our country, creating an abnormal demand for coal which reflected itself in a war time prosperity in our district. With the passing of the war time prosperity and returning to a consumption basis of peace time, the further restriction of our production and further increase in production in the great fields to the south of us resumed where it had left off, except that the situation has been accentuated by the increased productive capacity due to war time prosperity in all fields. The additional productive capacity developed by war time profits only intensified the present situation.

Today we are blandly informed by the Government that there is development that will produce 350,000,000 more tons than the country requires, and that there are 200,000,000 too many men in the industry; that this abnormal situation is the cause of irregular operation of mines and conducive to great strikes which at times threaten the general welfare and prosperity of the nation.

The effect is recognized, but the cause is not mentioned, and if mentioned, very quietly.

It is important, however, that the United Mine Workers of America should understand that unless they are able to establish conditions in the union fields of this country, where the coal operators and the coal miners in such fields can compete for the business of the country upon a fair basis with the coal operators and miners of the non-union fields, a continuation of the present basis means ruin to many union coal operators and thousands of union coal miners.

If the policy of government as indicated by various statements and decisions and reports is to eliminate the uneconomic coal mines of America by establishing car rules, etc., so as to accentuate the natural law of competition, the union may as well understand that the present policy of wage scale making and enforcement means that all of the union mines in the fields where competition now obtains as against non-union mines may be listed as uneconomic. Operating conditions in the union fields are just as good, just as efficient, the quality of their coal is just as high (and if we believe the union, labor more skilled) as compared with the non-union fields. As between mines where natural conditions are equal, union mines will be wiped out as a result of unfair competition and not the mines that are naturally uneconomic. The union miners must come to understand this: If they are going to have work and their union is going to continue to be a strong force in their lives, they must bear their share of the burden of competition during the period of the struggle for the survival of the fittest.

Beginning early last year the non-union operators competitive with us began to cut wages from 35 to 40 per cent. below the union wage schedules. These wage reductions have been made continually from that time forward until made effective all mines in Westmoreland, Fayette and Somerset counties of Pennsylvania, all of West Virginia except the mines located on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in northern West Virginia, and all mines in Tennessee, Kentucky and Maryland. Roughly speaking, the non-union fields competitive with Central Pennsylvania produce 200,000,000 tons of low volatile coal annually, against which the union mines of Central Pennsylvania producing 40 to 50 millions of tons must compete. This 200,000,000 tons is being produced at a labor cost under the union scale in our district.

Previous to the Great War the differential cost of production between union and non-union coal were much closer than they are today, the result being that it is much easier for the non-union fields to secure the business today than it was previous to the war.

This policy of imposing upon the union fields a much higher wage schedule than is paid in the non-union fields has already cost the United Mine Workers of America their membership in all of the southern West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee. One by one these fields have been lost to the union since April, 1921. Northern West Virginia, which is the only union field in the state at this time is wavering.

In order to offset the reply that non-union fields are having the same troubles today due to the general business depression of the country as the union fields are having, I wish to quote a few figures showing comparison between our own district and the coal mines in West Virginia located on the N. & W. C. & O., and Virginia Railroads. These railroads include the fields that are non-union in West Virginia.

The carloads of coal originating on these three roads from January 1 to July 12th, 1923 and 1924, are as follows: 1923—657,442 carloads, 1924—739,011 carloads, or an increase in 1924 over 1923 of 72,569 carloads, or 11.04 per cent. During this same period Central Pennsylvania loaded in 1923—454,212 carloads, in 1924—356,451 carloads or 26.42 per cent. True, the prices being received by the southern West Virginia coal operators are not as high as obtained during the war and the abnormal periods of high prices immediately following the war, but these figures do demonstrate beyond all doubt that the non-union fields are actually increasing their production of coal while the union fields are bearing the total brunt of the business depression affecting the country and in addition are losing much of their regular business to the non-union coal operators.

This strangulation of coal business in Central Pennsylvania due to the ability of the non-union coal operator to produce at a lower cost, is proceeding also in all of the other great union fields of the country, such as Pittsburgh, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

As further evidence of the inroads of non-union competition, approximately 15,000,000 tons of bituminous coal are transported to New England states by water. In 1918, the northern fields shipped 12.75 per cent and in 1923 they shipped 8.5 per cent of the total of this tidewater coal. In 1918 there was shipped from Hampton Roads from the West Virginia fields 56 per cent and in 1923, 69 per cent of this coal. The West Virginia coal received in New York harbor from Hampton Roads in 1922 was 2,391,800 tons and in 1923, 2,500,000 tons. I am informed that 1924 will likely reach a total of 3,000,000 tons. New York Harbor is considered the back door of our district and one of our permanent natural markets.

There were many factors that helped bring our district into this position. Let us pass them over by mere mention of the governmental interference in the making of wage agreements, commissions that investigated some cabinet members and such other highlighting agencies.

The facts are:

1. Over 200,000,000 tons of the coal accessible to the eastern markets and competitive with our coal is being produced from 50 cents to one dollar per ton lower cost than coal can be produced in our district under the union wage scale.

2. The present wage agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, which fixes our cost, will not expire until April 1, 1927.

3. The progress of the decline in production of coal in Central Pennsylvania will be more rapid under the present differential in labor cost of 50 cents to one dollar than it was before the Great War when the differential in labor cost of coal in the union fields as compared with the non-union fields was but from ten to twenty cents per ton.

These facts that ought to be obvious to the United Mine Workers of America have been met with the following declaration by what that organization in a circular letter to its members dated June 16: "Strikes now in effect will be prosecuted until settlements are reached on the basis of the Jacksonville Agreement. There will be no modifications of existing wage agreements now or later."

This declaration, if carried to its logical conclusion, April 1, 1927, means the financial ruin of a large number of coal companies and business men in this district; the impoverishment of miners and other laborers in nearly all communities of our section.

Today union operators and union miners can ask themselves the question: Do our present methods of conducting our business, as compared with the methods of those operators and miners who do not conduct their business in like manner, pay?

They can find answer in the depreciated value of the union properties; the idle mines and idle miners in our towns; the bankrupt companies, and the actual distress existing among miners in the union fields. They will find properties in the same seam with the same quality of coal and same type of equipment in a non-union field worth one hundred per cent more for sale in a market than the same properties in a union field. They will find more or less regular running time, higher earnings and more prosperity in the non-union districts.

Such a situation cannot continue indefinitely. The United Mine Workers will have to demonstrate to the union coal operators before the expiration of this agreement that it will give them an equal opportunity to do business. Financial ruin of a great industry and desolation of large communities is too high a price to pay to support a false theory of wages.

The United Mine Workers control approximately 60 to 70 per cent of the bituminous coal production in the United States. This it has demonstrated upon several occasions. The intelligent exercise of the control of 60 to 70 per cent of bituminous coal production would make it worth while to do business with that organization.

Collective bargaining as it has been practiced in our district for twenty-five years with the United Mine Workers is not undesirable. It has many sincere and earnest advocates among the coal operators. Collective bargaining, however, must be valuable to both the operators and the miners. If the United Mine Workers cannot exercise such intelligent control of the situation as to make it valuable to the people whom it represents, and with whom it does business, it will lose its prestige, its influence and its control.

Within reasonable limits, production costs must be equalized between the union and the non-union produce of coal. The influence of the United Mine

TO-MORROW-

BROWN'S BOOT SHOP

Workers has not been sufficient to maintain reasonable comparable wage schedules in the non-union sections of this country as compared with the wage schedules of the union districts. Under normal conditions it has always failed in its efforts to do so. There is only one way left open for the United Mine Workers to maintain its prestige, protect its influence and secure its control, and that is by meeting the competitive situation created by the present wage scale and demonstrating to the non-union sections of this country by placing the union mines upon a fair competitive basis with the 30 to 40 per cent non-union production that is now destroying the business of large union coal fields.

This would require the courage to temporarily suspend the operation of their present wage schedule until they have shown the non-union coal operators that the advantage of lower costs they have enjoyed at the expense of union wages is no more. When they have done this their boast will be a fact, that the union sets the standard of wages in the mining industry. Today the union is not setting the standard of wages in the mining industry. The coal is being mined in these fields where wages have been fixed upon a lower basis than the Union will accept. In my opinion, this is the only road open.

The adoption of such a course will bring that measure of real stability into the industry necessary to dislodge out of the business the unit and keep in the business the fit. It will do the entire industry a real and great service. It will assist in the continuation of proper wage scales and living conditions in all coal mining communities whether they are unionized or non-unionized. It will stabilize production costs, which is the first essential to stabilization of the industry.

American Legion Band Concert Tomorrow Eve.

The American Legion Band will give another of their delightful outdoor concert at the Clearfield Park this evening starting at 8:00 o'clock.

Under the direction of Prof. H. Clark Thayer the band will render the famous Supper Overture "Isabella." This is an overture which is finely shaded thru its entire score and the various sections of the band have their parts worked out to a real musical finish.

Another number which will be featured will be a pot-pourri of variations of "Maryland." This takes in everything from the wee, penetrating piccolo up to a variation for the big bass horns, which, by the way, the Legion Band may boast of having the best in this section of the state.

Following the concert the Legion post will give a dance in Excelsior hall with the Keystone orchestra furnishing the music. The proceeds of these dances go toward defraying the expenses of taking the band to Greensburg and should be patronized by young and old.

LAFOLLETTE COMES OUT FLAT-FOOTED AGAINST THE KLAN

States He Is Unalterably Opposed to Aims and Evident Purposes of the K. K. K.

QUOTES LINCOLN

By H. K. REYNOLDS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, August 8.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent candidate for the Presidency, announced today that he was opposed to the Ku Klux Klan.

The announcement was made in a letter to Robert P. Scripps of New York City, who has inquired as to LaFollette's attitude.

"Any one familiar with my record especially in my own state, knows that I have always stood without reservation against any discrimination between races, classes and creeds," LaFollette said.

"I hold that every citizen is entitled to the full exercise of his constitutional rights.

"I am unalterably opposed to the evident purposes and secret organization known as the Ku Klux Klan as disclosed by its public acts. It cannot long survive."

LaFollette said he deemed it "most unfortunate that questions involving religious opinions and other questions unrelated to the vital issue of the restoration to the people, have been raised in this as in other critical years of our national history."

"Such controversies," he declared, "lead upon and inflame prejudice and passion to the exclusion of issues involving the very life of Government itself."

"In my view the one dominant issue of this campaign, is to break the combined power of the private monopoly system over the political and economic life of the American people. Free government cannot long exist side by side with economic despotism."

"In this issue, in so far as I am able, I shall hold the attention of the voters of this country. From this position I shall not be turned aside."

LaFollette said that in his opinion the Ku Klux Klan was "foredoomed." "It has within its own body the seeds of death."

Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson were quoted by LaFollette in support of his stand against the Klan. He inserted in his letter an excerpt from a letter written by Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., on August 24, 1855 in which Lincoln declared he would prefer to move to Russia "where despotism can be taken pure and without the base alloy of hypocrisy."

HEALTH CERTIFICATES ORDERED BY STATE FOR CHURCH FOOD SALES

Pottsville, Aug. 8.—Men, women and children who sell articles of food at church bazaars and fairs, including soft drinks, must all have health certificates, the State Board of Health ruled today.

It is estimated that every town in the state has hundreds of citizens who aid in sales for the benefit of churches, few of whom comply with the law.

Because of doubt in the matter, and the far-reaching character of the issue, the Pottsville Board of Health asked for the Pension and Health Officer. The officer has been ordered to strictly enforce the ruling. This means that workers at church bazaar must have the same qualifications as restaurant waiters.

Defense Changes Its Tactics In Trial Of Chicago Boy Killers

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 8. (INS)—Course for the defense in the Leopold-Loeb trial changed tactics today.

At a conference of the lawyers who are seeking to save the two defendants from the gallows it was decided to put on the witness stand only "a few more" of the large number of lay witnesses, college classmates and friends of the boys who were summoned to testify concerning the so-called oddities and eccentricities that marked their school careers.

This decision will enable the defense to close its case by Monday, according to Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel.

Two more alienists, it was said, probably will be put on to testify the mental condition of "Babe" and "Dickie."

The first witness put on the stand today was Dr. Robert Bruce Armstrong, the Leob family physician at Charlevoix, Mich., who testified that he had treated young Leob several years ago when the boy had a series of fainting spells following an automobile accident.

"Were these spells normal or abnormal?" asked Darrow.

"I thought they were the result of the accident," replied the physician. State's attorney Crowe thought it was so unimportant that he didn't cross-examine him at all.

When court recessed at noon, the defense had practically concluded its list of lay witnesses, outside of the relatives of the two boys, and it was planned to return to the alienists at the afternoon session.

Philadelphia—The career of a colored "peeping Tom" ended suddenly here when he ran afoul of three nurses attached to the Womens' college hospital. Discovering him peeping into the window of their apartment early today, Miss Elsie Martin, one of the nurses, left the apartment and poked a pistol in his ribs. The other two nurses summoned the police.

Mrs. A. B. Knight, of Cherry street, was advised yesterday of the birth of an 11-pound son to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Johnson at their home in Barnesboro. Mrs. Johnson was Ada Knight before her marriage.

If the know nothing party came into power.

"When the Know Nothings get control," LaFollette quoted Lincoln as saying "It (referring to the constitution) will read all men are created except negroes and foreigners and Catholics."

The statement of Jefferson, made in 1803, was that he would never "bow to the shrine of intolerance, or admit a right of inquiry into the religious opinions of others."

"Upon these statements of Jefferson and Lincoln," LaFollette said, "expressing the sentiments which I believe the vast majority of our citizens cherish and to which they will ever rigidly adhere, and upon my views expressed in this letter, I am content to stand without qualification or evasion."

PENNSY-GRAMS

Pittsburgh—Though the temperature dropped nearly 20 degrees yesterday, there were three deaths due to heat prostration according to the coroner's office. Rose Barb, 2, and Robert Kramer, 8 months, were found dead in their beds by their mothers and John Beer, 74, an elevator operator, toppled from his chair at his home from exhaustion caused by the heat. Thundershowers are predicted in western Pennsylvania for today.

Pittsburgh—Mrs. Anna Ritter, 42, was found dead in her home from acute alcoholism yesterday according to the Deputy Coroner. The woman's death brings the total deaths from poison booze for a year in this district to 75.

Uniontown—Major A. Joyce and Lieut. M. Mord, of the United States aviation service are suffering only slightly today after they crashed into a mountain, yesterday trying to descend near here. The airmen were flying from Langley Field, Va., to Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Bakertown—Local and county police are today searching for three bandits, one said to be a woman who robbed the home of Charles Grillo above a garage yesterday here and escaped with $280 in cash. While the woman leveled two automatics at Mrs. Grillo, the two men forced Mrs. Grillo to tell where the money was hid. Mrs. Grillo was found by police lying on the floor with her hands tied behind her and chloroformed.

Philadelphia—Neighbors found Charles McClure, 35, unconscious in his garage last night after it had been struck by a bolt of lightning. McClure revived but suffered severe burns on the shoulder and body. The garage was badly damaged by fire.

Philadelphia—A cooling breeze swept over Philadelphia today. The average temperature for yesterday was the highest this season. A lessening in the number of arrests for crime is the only good accomplished by the heat wave, according to police.

Philadelphia—Mrs. Giovanni was arrested last night and charged with killing Angelo Penilio, a lodger, who was found lying on a bed in the house with three bullet wounds in his head. He died an hour later.

Police refused to accept the woman's story that Penilio shot himself when they discovered the pistol on the opposite side of the room. She submitted calmly to arrest and insisted on taking her five year old daughter to the station house with her. She admitted quarreling with Penilio.

Franklin—An $1,800 deficit has resulted in Chantanooga in this section of Pennsylvania this year according to guarantors of the enterprise. The report showed a deficit of $400 in Franklin, $800 in Oil City and $600 in Titusville.

New Castle—Benjamin Bolisky, 26, and John McGuire, 27, are in jail today after they tried to rob McMillan's Pharmacy here of "dope." Three patrolmen found them in the drug store early yesterday. After a revolver battle the men were captured. The men confessed according to the police that they were hunting "dope."

Pittsburgh, Pa., August 8 (INS).—The report of Federal Prohibition agents for July shows that 23,492 barrels of beer, 1,158 gallons of alcohol, 94 gallons of whiskey and eight automobiles were seized in that period, in the Pittsburgh district.

Pittsburgh, August 8 (INS).—The twenty vaccination clinics here will remain open, but placards on houses of those refusing to be vaccinated will be removed, according to the latest order of the city health department which is fighting the spread of smallpox here.

Dr. C. J. Vaux, director of the department announced today that additional clinics will be opened if needed. Decision to discontinue the placarding of homes where residents refused to be vaccinated was made following protests of anti-vaccinationists, Dr. Vaux said.

Reading—Neighbors of 80-year-old Jacob Sanders, supposedly penurious recluse, were shocked when his death here this week revealed the fact that he had a fortune estimated at between $70,000 and $80,000. His death was ascribed to lack of nourishment.

Most of his wealth, consisting chiefly of cash and bonds, was found in a tin box in the cupboard. He never married and lived here all his life except during his service in the Civil war. He has no relatives here.

Earl Phillips is spending a few days with a school friend in Philadelphia.

Leads New "Investigations"

There will be another outbreak of "investigations" in Washington Sept. 3. Senator C. E. Roseberry is going to peep through the doors of the Treasury Department and see what he can see. The income tax division and the prohibition unit are to bear the brunt of the investigating. Senators of the first order are forewarned.

N. Y. CENTRAL COACH CLEANER RUN DOWN BY PASSENGER TRAIN

James Vagliotti, aged about 45 and employed as a coach cleaner by the New York Central Railroad Company, was instantly killed this morning when run down by the passenger train due here at 11:30 o'clock from Williamsport. The accident occurred at the curve near the tannery. J. A. Duke was the engineer pulling the train. He said he saw Vagliotti walking along the bank between the track and the river for some distance ahead of his train, and thought of course he would continue on the path he was walking on, but just as the train neared him, without looking up or apparently realizing that a train was approaching, Vagliotti turned and stepped onto the track directly in front of the engine. Sounding his whistle and throwing on his emergency brakes, Duke made every effort to stop the train, but was powerless to do so and the big engine rolled onto him with the wheels sliding and screeching on the rails.

The engine ran over Vagliotti, whose body mangled remains were taken from under the rear of the tender. His head was badly crushed and death was undoubtedly instantaneous.

Vagliotti, who resided on top of the hill, near the old cemetery, leaves a widow and several children. He was a very small man physically but hardworking and industrious. He had been employed at the new grandstand in the Park, but was called back to his coach-cleaning job on Friday of last week, he having been employed by the N. Y. C. before the recent shut down of activities in the local yard.

Undertaker F. B. Leavy removed the remains to his undertaking rooms, where they were prepared for burial.

Mrs. J. D. Connelly and Mrs. W. J. Leavy left yesterday for Snow Shoe, where they will spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Markel.

BORN IN BATH TUB, BABE IS DROWNED

San Francisco, Aug. 8. (INS.)—In one of the most unusual cases of local medical annals, a baby born to Mrs. Lucy Presedgo, 30, while she was taking a bath was drowned in the tub here today. Physicians hastily summoned were unable to resuscitate the infant.

Will Lay Cornerstone Of New Catholic Church At Osceola On Sunday Next

The cornerstone of the new immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Osceola will be laid with appropriate and impressive services on Sunday, afternoon, August 10th, at 3 o'clock.

The religious ceremony of laying the cornerstone will be carried out in its fullest detail. It is expected that 40 or 50 priests from the surrounding parishes will assist in the services.

The corner stone was executed in Indiana, of Indiana limestone. The receptacle cut in the stone and containing a copper box will contain the names of the president and vice president of the United States, the governor and lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, the judge of this county, the mayor of Osceola, current copies of newspapers, all 1924 silver coinage, the names of the party laying the cornerstone, the names of the present pastor who is building the church, the bishop of the Erie diocese, the contractor's and architect's names, etc.

Lunch will be furnished gratis by the ladies' committee and young men of the congregation to those from out of town.

The new church, which was designed by architects Morris and McHale, of Scranton, Pa., will be built of brick at a cost of from $100,000 to $200,000. When completed it will be one of the finest Catholic churches in the Erie diocese. Contractor Frank J. Cupples, of Cresson, Pa., has the contract for its erection, while the energetic, hardworking pastor, Rev. M. J. Renehan, is superintending the construction personally.

Weather permitting, an immense crowd from the surrounding territory is expected in Osceola Sunday afternoon. Many Clearfield and Curwensville people will attend.

DEMOCRATS DROP SHIELDS

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 8. (INS).—Returns from Tennessee's Democratic primary today gave Gen. L. D. Tyson, Knoxville, a lead of approximately 12,000 over his opponent Senator John K. Shields in the senatorial nomination race. Governor Austin Peay was leading John R. Neal in the gubernatorial fight by approximately 40,000 votes.

Unofficial returns in the senatorial race gave Tyson 48,697; Shields, 36,435.

Mrs. A. G. Peters of Woodland spent the day in Clearfield.

Misses Freda Wilson and Mildred Wyant are visiting friends and relatives in Patton.

Postmaster Roseberry And His Clerical Force Entertain Congressmen

Postmaster C. E. Roseberry and his postal force entertained Congressman W. I. Swoope, of this district, and Congressman M. Clyde Kelley, of Allegheny county, at dinner at the Hotel Jordan last evening. Twenty-five people were present and spent both a pleasant and a profitable evening.

Congressman Kelley is the father of the bill increasing the pay of postal workers to somewhere near what should be their compensation and in the course of his remarks following the dinner he touched on that measure. He told of the hard work necessary before they could get it passed in the closing days of the last congress and said he had never been so very much disappointed over anything as he was when he learned that President Coolidge had vetoed the measure and it was then too late to have it reconsidered.

He assured the diners that Congressman Swoope had been an earnest supporter of the bill in the congress and stated that the very same bill vetoed by the President would be the first piece of legislation he would introduce in the coming short session of congress, and felt satisfied it would be quickly passed and put up to the President once more, at which time he looked for favorable action by the Chief Executive.

Mr. Kelley in closing expressed his pleasure at being present and paid pretty compliments to Mr. Alexander Ennis Patton, his hostess during his stay in Curwensville, and Curwensville people generally for the welcome and entertainment given him in that town.

The figures given herewith have been verified by the Penn Public Service Corporation, and are correct, and are based on a ten year contract which is subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission, since they have informed the Public Service Corporation of this State that they do not look with favor on contracts running longer than five years. If such a contract were not approved, changes in the figures would necessarily be made.

Sea Base For Round The World Flyers Is Being Considered By Navy Men

By DAVID J. WALSH
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

On board U. S. Cruiser Richmond, off Reykjavik, Iceland August 8.—By wireless—On account of the heavy ice pack lying off Angmagalik, Iceland, American army and navy officials may decide to establish a sea base for Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson.

The next move in the round the world flight of the two American army flyers depends upon conditions at Angmagalik. If the Danish Supply ship Gertrude Blak is able to force her way through the ice in the next few days the original plan will be carried out of having the two Yankee airmen make that Greenland port their next stopping place.

If it is decided to eliminate Angmagalik from the stopping places the only alternative will be to establish a sea base as there is no other Greenland port within the flying radius of the machines.

If a sea base is decided upon the planes will obtain their supplies from an American Cruiser.

BIG RAILROAD MERGER

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 8. (INS).—Maintaining their policy of silence when a big deal is in contemplation, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, who already control the Nickel Plate system and the Chesapeake & Ohio, refused to comment today upon reports of the addition of the Pere Marquette and Erie railroads and the merger of all into one of the largest railroad systems in the country.

"No announcement will be made here," it was stated on behalf of the Van Sweringens, "until such time as application is made to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to complete the merger. Reports from New York are based upon statements made there by banking interests active in the projected merger."

WINBURNE FIRM BANKRUPT

Pittsburg Pa., August 8 (INS).—In a petition of involuntary bankruptcy filed against Albert Kanarik and Emil O. Crowe, conducting business under the firm name of Kanarik and Crowe, at Winburne, Pa. The creditors' claims are $742,57.

NEW LIGHTING PLANS OFFERED TO COUNCIL BY LIGHT COMPANY

Experts Make a Close Survey of the Town's Lighting System and Recommend Changes.

NEED MORE LIGHTS

"We have heard so much comment and been asked so many questions concerning the action of Council Monday evening last regarding securing a better lighting system for Clearfield, that we decided to ask Charles J. Day of the Public Property Committee for the communication for presentation on the subject of lighting Clearfield, handed him by the Penn Public Service Company for presenting to Council with the report of his committee, recommending either one of the two plans, but favoring Plan No. 1 provided the business people affected will go along."

The two plans are the lighting experts' reasons for the necessity and enlargement of our lighting system or facilities follow:

Mr. Ira Jay, Chairman Borough Lighting Committee Clearfield, Penna.

"We are handing you figures and blue prints on the present lighting arrangement, also the changed system with alternate."

The changed systems are the recommendations of Illuminating Engineers, one for the General Electric Company and the other for the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, and includes the recommendations of your own Committee.

Because of the pride we have in our town and to properly illuminate the business section, and at the same time properly light the main arteries of travel and the residential section we have combined the reports of these two engineers.

The figures given herewith have been verified by the Penn Public Service Corporation, and are correct, and are based on a ten year contract which is subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission, since they have informed the Public Service Corporation of this State that they do not look with favor on contracts running longer than five years. If such a contract were not approved, changes in the figures would necessarily be made.

If the rearranged lighting system, and the boulevard system meets with the approval of your Committee and the Council, we suggest an order to furnish service and rearrange the lamps; and that you let our Committee help canvass the business houses and property holders to see if a majority would favor paying for the installation of the post and work incidental districts. Upon immediately signing the petition Council should pass an ordinance to collect the costs and let the bids for installing the system.

Clearfield Street Lighting

The present street lighting system in the borough of Clearfield consists of 64 arc lamps, 1-250 C. P. incandescent lamp and 81-80 C. P. incandescent lamps. However, it is proposed to remove the flag pole at the intersection of Second and Market Streets sometime within the following week and this will eliminate 4-80 C. P. lamps which are now mounted on the pole. It will be necessary to install arc lamp at this point to provide efficient illumination. The yearly cost to the borough for service to this street lighting system after the above changes have been made will be as follows:

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE DATE

The Clearfield County Teachers' Institute will start Monday, August 25th at 1:30 County Sup. Froese says a lot of newspapers, including this one, have been trying to select some other date, but fixing the date for the teachers' institute happens to be his duty and he has decided upon starting it off Monday, August 25th at 1:30 p. m., and that is when institute starts. It ends Friday, August 29th.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

County Treasurer Rumberger received a supply of 1924 hunters licenses Monday and already, or up to, Thursday, 208 had been issued. It fell to a Centre county hunter, Haggerty, of Philipsburg, down license No. 1. He had a fight with the County Treasurer, being her brother-in-law.

By filling a small creek to overflowing the same storm which fired the Mifflinville Lutheran church also prevented its destruction. The building was fired by lightning and Newark fire companies were called. By the time the firemen had reached Mifflinville, a small stream near the church, which had been dry for several weeks, was overflowing the banks, furnishing ample water supply for a large pump or used to extinguish the blaze.

Pennsylvania voters will be asked to decide at the November election whether or not they favor holding a constitutional convention. Officials in the Bureau of Elections have completed the forms for submission of the question, which will be the only Statewide question submitted this fall. The decision of the Supreme Court holding submission of the proposed amendment providing for payment of a bonus to World War veterans is unconstitutional.

If a majority of the voters next November favor the convention, delegates will be nominated at the 1925 Spring primaries and elected at the November, 1925, general election. The convention would meet in the Capitol building Tuesday in January, 1926. Each State district would be represented by three delegates to the convention. Each political party would nominate two candidates. At the general election, each district would vote only for two delegates. However, each district represented in the convention would have candidates receiving one vote, a method which would give minority party representation.

Col. T. S. Beauchamp Wilcox, a Jew, has been elected to the House of Representatives from London, Eng., one day in connection with the election of the Palatine haggerty. The present-day Jews were descendants of the Biblical Jews, but were the descendants of the Chazars, a Mongol tribe who invaded a large and powerful empire in South Russia. They were later converted to Judaism in the tenth century. They were later the first rulers of Russia. They were later in twenty-three centuries as a physician in the Balkans and the Levant. It is an anthropological study of the Jews who were descendants of the Jews who were converted to various races.

Curwensville people, or some of them at least, must have done some mean thing to the weather man some time, because every time Curwensville advertises a big day or worth while celebration the success of which depends on fair weather, when the appointed time arrives, regardless of how much or how little rain they have had in the far distant or near past, along comes old Jupe Pluvius with the proverbial "tear in his eye like a traveling rat" and immediately all the day long floods the landscape o'er with long and copious showers.

Yesterday's County Sunday School Field Day, which promised so much for those interested and the young people so vitally concerned, was the last really worth while occasion recently spoiled by rain.

Grant Norris has promised to get the Dog Star after old J. P. a week or so before the big Yellow Dog celebration arranged for Labor Day and if he can't chase the "ould divil" and his watering can so far enough away to guarantee dry weather on that occasion Norris promises to tie a can to the aforesaid Dog Star's tail and send him helter skelter to the demitition bow wows, where he belongs if he can't get something done toward chasing Curwensville's weather Jinx into its hole for all time. And here's hoping.

More Room for Speeders
Not merely must the roads be widened to hold automobile traffic, but many ditches need to be enlarged to hold the speeders.—Newark Advocate

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime-salts in the arteries, veins and joints. We often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," is bound to give immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia, in ridding the impoverished blood of its poisons by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store, by simply asking for "Anuric" for kidneys or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising from bed at night.

Send to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a ten-cent trial package, or ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache remedy). "Anuric," N. Y.—"A year ago I was all crippled up with rheumatic pains. My back and kidneys were so bad that I could scarcely change the position of my body and I was in torture all the time I was working. My bladder gave me trouble particularly at night, when I was disturbed frequently. I felt like a worn-out old man. I had no idea there was such a medicine as Anuric until a neighbor told me of it, and it has brought about a wonderful change in my life. It has cleaned and strengthened the kidneys and bladder so that I have no restless nights, or painful working days. I am unable to praise 'Anuric' enough; it is worth more praise than I can give it."—Sam Rinker, 240 Franklin St.

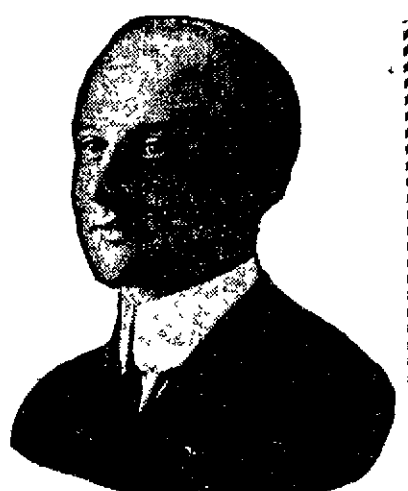

Faith and Reason
Faith is the continuation of reason.—William Adams.

Lacking in Tact
Cal says: A person needs tact in the hardware business. My clever clerk spoiled a sale by asking a Harvard man, who had inquired for a keyhole saw, whether he wanted it to saw holes for Yale keys.—Good Hardware.

Tuckahoo a Puzzle
A queer vegetable found in the southern seaboard states of the United States is the tuckahoo. It grows underground, somewhat like the European truffle. It is referred to as a genus of spurious fungi, but probably is a peculiar condition of some root, though it is not definitely known of what plant.

Laws and More Laws
There are 2,000,000 laws in force in the United States. If a man could familiarize himself with ten of them each day he would be qualified to act as a lay abiding citizen in the short space of 6000 years.—Southern Lumberman

What Makes a Gentleman?
It has been said that the true gentleman is aptly described in the tenth Psalm: "He that waiteth uprightly and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart. I that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbors, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor."—Psalm 15, 2, 3.

Preserver of Health
The plumber derives his name from the old Latin word "plumbum," or "plumbarius," meaning lead. His actual title in ancient days was "artifex plumbarius," meaning a worker in lead.

"My Rheumatism is gone —"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S. Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY TO BE HELD AT WALLACETON PARK

August 13th, 1924, being the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Kanouff, of Boggs township, Clearfield county, residing near Wallaceton, a fitting celebration will be held in the Wallaceton park near the new state road. The children of this happy couple take this method of notifying all the relatives and immediate friends that they are cordially invited to be present on this occasion, and help this fine old couple with their friends and relatives, to make this a jubilee day long to be remembered. The children expect a goodly number of friends to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kanouff reside a mile or so from Wallaceton on a farm home where anyone is always welcome. Three daughters are married residents of Wallaceton.

INTEREST KEEN IN BIG FIGHT

London, Aug. 8 (INS).—Sixty thousand tickets have been sold for the twenty round bout here tomorrow between Tom Gibbons, St. Paul, light heavyweight, and Jack Bloomfield of England. It was announced today.

Bath fighters are in fine condition and confident of winning. Gibbons, who has become immensely popular here, is the favorite.

Bloomfield, who is to be married shortly after the fight, said he would go to the United States and challenge Jack Dempsey if he wins.

C. R. BLOOM

Curwensville's Own Column

Gary Brennetti was removed to the Clearfield hospital Friday evening for medical treatment. He had a blister on his foot which gave great pain and considerable uneasiness in fear of blood poisoning. He was resting fairly well last night at late report.

Under the auspices of the American Legion boys yesterday morning flags on staff were planted along Front street, Walnut and Filbert. The national emblems were all of uniform size and floated from the same height. It was a fine display. Of course the flags were those whose owners did not own a flag of this display and no flag was put in front of their property. The property holder purchased the flag and the staff, and the Legion boys carried the poles and placed the flags in place.

A number of Curwensville Red Men went over to Mader yesterday to attend the annual district convention of that organization.

Mrs. Claude Bloom is quite ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. John A. Dine, River street. It is thought that her illness is bordering on an attack of typhoid fever.

Ed Hayes, who conducts a feed business on the Fullerton block, accompanied by his wife and babe, are on a visit to relatives out in the Hawkeye territory. He expects to bring a batch of eggs back with him and breed them to his White Leghorns at his home in henry.

It was the much talked of and widely advertised Sunday Field Day at the Park. During the day the weather was very pleasant and the program a small affair. It was headed by the famous Grampian band, with the home band on the left. It was about the only event occurring worthy of note. The afternoon was a long one to carry out the program. The crowd was not as large as was anticipated. Hon. Richard delivered the address of welcome and Hon. M. Clyde Kelley made the principal address. A choir of about a hundred voices sang several songs. One of the greatest features of the day was listening to the Grampian band, which was directed by Mr. Grampian. The Grampian band is a well known organization, and the day was a grand one for its ability to play the right kind of inspiring music in the right place and time. A ball game in the afternoon.

noon but it had not been reported at this writing.

Walrus Tusks Prized

Ivory carving is becoming a lost art among the Eskimos of Alaska and the ornately carved walrus tusks are much prized by collectors. A generation or so back the artisans who did this work were quite numerous, but they have gradually passed away and the young men have not learned to do it.

Sweet Peas for Porto Rico

Difference in the length of the day in the tropics and summer days of the North has been discovered as one of the chief reasons why sweet peas would not bloom in Porto Rico. This difficulty has been overcome with the introduction of a tropical sweet pea from Australia.

Cities of Refuge

Six of the forty-eight cities given to the tribe of Levi in the division of Canaan were set aside by the law of Moses as places of refuge for the manslayer or accidental homicide. The names of these cities were Kedesh, Shechem, Hebron (on the west side of Jordan), Bezer, Ramoth-Gilead and Golan (on the east side of Jordan).

Waves Will Scare Deer

Deer are especially timid in a high wind and will jump in alarm at the sound of the waves splashing on the rocks, says Nature Magazine. They are very sensitive to sudden changes of temperature, and it is most surprising to find none coming out of the woods when a cold northwest wind blows.

Eggs Hatch on Thread

The leaf fish, an inhabitant of the quiet bays and inlets of the Amazon, may be considered the most curious of fishes, says Nature Magazine. The eggs hatch in three days when the water is kept at a temperature of 25 degrees Centigrade. Normally, the young hatched fish are suspended by threads from the under side of the leaves.

MABEL FORREST

with NORMAN KERRY and an all star cast in

"The Satin Girl"

In Mabel Forrest's first Grand-Asher picture in which she has the stellar role, produced by Ben Wilson and directed by Arthur Rosson, there are a lot of sliding panels and trap-doors, for it is a mystery story called "The Satin Girl." While making the picture Mabel had to emerge from one of the panels and when Rosson called camera, she didn't appear. Instead they heard wild scratchings and thumps on the panel. For it had stuck and Miss Forrest couldn't get out of the small closet-like enclosure in which she was held captive. "Give me the combination," she said, as she emerged finally.

A Cordial Invitation

You and your friends are cordially invited to attend the Opening of the beautiful new banking home of the Curwensville State Bank, which will open for business Saturday, August 9th, 1924.

You are welcome at any time to call and inspect this building, which is one of the most complete modern and up-to-date institutions in this section of the country, yet Saturday, August 9th, has been especially set aside as "Open House for visitors.

The many convenient and complete features of the bank will be shown and explained by the officers, directors and employees, and especially interesting to visitors will be the massive vault which is the last word in vault construction.

In order to give everyone an opportunity to view our banking quarters the bank will remain open during the evening of Opening Day.

REMEMBER—NO OTHER INVITATION IS NEEDED. We expect you and your friends at our Opening.

Tell Girls

And Women what I do for you By Edna Wallace Hopper

My office scribbles me countless letters which thank me for new beauty and new youth. Please don't do that. Just tell to other girls and women what you're doing.

I am simply passing on to others what great scientists gave me. The helps that made me a famous beauty, then kept my youth and beauty to my grand old age.

These help number 52 but I have had them combined in four preparations. When you use any one of them you apply cream a number of the best beauty helps in existence.

One is a cream which I call Youth Cream. It combines products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to look after and protect the skin.

I use it as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. I have never heard of a cream which brings anything like its results.

Now I am placing my Youth Cream—just as I use it—at every woman's call. All druggists and toilet counters supply it at 60c per jar, also in 25c tubes.

Just ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. I promise you that as long as you live you'll be very glad you know it, and I shall be glad for you.

I will send you a sample to try, if you wish. Also my Beauty Book. Just mail this coupon for beauty's sake.

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 7.—An effort by the defense lawyers to shorten the Leopold-Loeb trial by the elimination of a long list of lay-witnesses on both sides failed today.

Counsel for the two young slayers offered to dispense with more than a score of witnesses, recruited from the relatives and friends of "Babe" and "Dicky" if the State would agree to a similar reduction in its list of witnesses. After weighing the proposition behind closed doors for half an hour, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, turned it down and announced that the trial of the young slayers would go on along the lines originally laid down.

Within a few minutes after Crowe rejected the defense's offer, counsel for the two boys put on the stand the first of a long list of these lay-witnesses to testify to the peculiarities and eccentricities that marked the college careers of Loeb and Leopold.

He was Max Schrayner, a classmate of Loeb, at the University of Michigan. He said he had known Loeb for years and "knew him very well at college."

Under the careful questioning of Darrow, Schrayner declared that "Dicky" had always been a nervous boy at college, that he drank a great deal at times, and that he was a persistent cigarette smoker.

Crowe objected to the general description of Loeb as "nervous" and demanded that Schrayner be specific, which he did to the extent of saying that Dicky had twitching of the hands and features, and that he had seen him faint several times.

"How about his responsibility?" asked Darrow.

"Well, he was the type of individual we didn't trust very much—" began the witness, but Crowe broke in on him with objections.

"That is your conclusion?" Crowe said, and Judge Caverly sustained the objection to the point of instructing the witness to be more specific. Schrayner said he had lived in the same fraternity house with Loeb at Ann Arbor. They were both seniors. A privilege of being a senior, he said, was supervision over Freshmen, but this privilege was never granted young Loeb.

"What do you know about his reading?" asked Darrow.

"He was known as a reader of dime novels, and detective stories."

"What was he called?"

"I object, its immaterial," objected Crowe.

Caverly sustained it. Had Schrayner been allowed to answer he would have answered "Buster Bugs" a nickname applied to Richard Loeb by some of his college classmates. He was the youngest boy ever to graduate from the school.

Crowe made constant objections to Darrow's line of questioning as it proceeded. Darrow asked if there was anything peculiar about Loeb's laugh, and Crowe objected. After a wrangle the witness was allowed to reply that Loeb's laugh was uniformly loud and boisterous.

Darrow's next question also produced a wrangle. It was whether Schrayner had formed any opinion as to the "childishness or immaturity" of Dicky. Crowe contended that the witness was not competent to express such an opinion.

Judge Caverly tried to pour oil on the troubled waters by pointing out that the state would have a chance to cross-examine the lay witnesses. He finally denied the objection and Schrayner said:

"It is my impression he was very childish."

"Dicky" Loeb's boyhood sweethearts were among those summoned. He was a popular boy in the school to which his wealthy parents sent him. He had lots of friends, among them many girls, and among these lat-

Anglo-Russian Treaty Opposed in Commons

London, Aug. 7. (INS).—The storm over the Anglo-Russian agreement embodying two treaties—one general and one commercial—broke out again in Commons today when former Premier David Lloyd George and Sir Robert Horne insisted that the general treaty should not be signed until it could be debated.

Premier MacDonald said he wanted to sign the pact this afternoon, pointing out it would not be operative until after Commons may amend or reject it.

The treaty has been published. Soviet Russia recognizes the Russian pre-war debts and agrees to the appointment of claims commissions to fix the amounts that shall be paid. After an agreement has been reached to satisfy holders of Russian bonds, the Soviet will obtain credits from England.

Newspapers severely criticized the agreement, claiming it was not definite enough as it does not mention specific sums.

Ex-Gov. Walton Is Ahead
For Senate In Oklahoma

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 7. (INS).—Former Governor J. C. Walton, long an enemy of the K. K. K., today had gathered strong lead in the counting of votes last night for nomination for the U. S. Senate on the Democratic ticket over Congressman E. B. Howard, endorsed by Klan.

Walton's majority in 2,271 precincts out of 2,996 was 4,127. The vote: Walton 62,348; Howard 58,221.

Parley Stott, of Turkey Hill, is suffering from dropsy and has been quite ill for some time.

FIVE KILLED, TWO
OF TWO ACCIDENTS

New Brunswick, N. J., Aug. 7. (INS).—Five persons are dead and two are dying today as the result of two railroad crossing accidents at the same spot here.

A Pennsylvania train bound to New York, struck an automobile last night and killed two persons. A train from New York this morning crashed into another machine, killing three. Both automobiles were struck at Mill-stone crossing.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. David G. Lester, Oakland, Cal., Thomas Miller, Rey Cole and Curtis Clarke, of New Brunswick. John Sehesja and Raymond Soden, of New Brunswick are dying.

Lester was driving with his wife and a friend, when he saw the train too late. The train struck the car broadside and dragged it 100 yards down the track.

The accident this morning occurred when Miller, according to witnesses, tried to cross the track ahead of the train.

ter two in particular, Lorraine Nathan and Germaine ("Patches") Reinhardt.

It is indicative of the strange association of Leopold and Loeb, and indicative of the difference between the two young slayers, that none of Leopold's girl friends were summoned to testify concerning him. Leopold had few girl friends; he had none at all with whom he was on sufficiently familiar terms to have them come to Judge Caverly's court and aid in the effort to save him from the gallows. Leopold was not very popular—except with Dicky Loeb.

Word reached Chicago today that Mrs. Albert R. Loeb, mother of Dicky, is returning to Chicago from Clearfield, Mich. the Loeb summer estate where she has been prostrated since her 19 year old son confessed to the Franks crime.

Whether Mrs. Loeb will testify or not had not been determined, according to the defense lawyers.

"Her physicians have told me" said Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel, "that if she goes on the stand she will stand the shock and strain of it may kill her."

Noted Surgeon Takes His Own Life At Phila.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7. (INS).—Dr. Robert Le Conte, one of the most noted surgeons in the country, shot and killed himself here yesterday in the office of his home which has been closed for several days.

The body was discovered by relatives late last night who became worried after the doctor failed to keep a dinner engagement.

It is thought he was dead several hours when the body was discovered. An examination of the pistol with which he killed himself showed he was forced to pull the trigger three times before the cartridge exploded.

No motive has been ascribed for the suicide. The last line of a note which he left in which he said "I am not responsible for what I am about to do," was the only part given out by police. Dr. Le Conte had just returned from Bar Harbor, Me., where his wife is spending the summer.

Dr. Le Conte was a former president of the American Surgical Association and was decorated by the French and Belgian governments for his services during the war. He was on the staff of several hospitals here.

Confessed Murderer
Adds Further Details

Middleburg, Pa., Aug. 7. (INS).—All the revolting details of a cold blooded murder were known to police today as Ralph Shadle, 17, continued his confession—re-enacting the crime at the scene.

Shadle confessed killing Harvey Willow last December, and implicates the widow of the slain man, who, he says, instigated the murder.

The youthful slayer yesterday took police to the farm, had one of them stand where Willow had stood, walked a few paces away and assumed the position he was in as he fired the fatal shots.

The tree where the victim stood still holds part of the shot that killed Willow, and was cut down at the direction of District Attorney Miller. It will be offered as evidence.

The widow, whose affection for the boy is said to be the cause of the brutal murder was given a hearing before a Justice of the peace. She made no statement and was led back to jail apparently dazed and talking incoherently.

Murders His Family And Then Takes His Own Life

Buffalo, N. Y., August 7. (INS).—After slaying his wife and his two young sons as they slept in their beds early today, Henry Hopkins Lyon, electrical engineer, retired to his own bedroom, apparently reloading the revolver with which he had killed his family, stretched himself out on his bed and put a bullet into his right cheek. He was taken to Columbus hospital where he died.

No reason has been advanced for the tragedy, the family having been prosperous and happy.

Lieut. Wade's New Plane
Is En Route To Meet Him

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 7. (INS).—In command of Lieuts. George C. MacDonald and Victor F. Bartrandias, a Douglas cruiser plane left Langley Field United States army air station at 8 a. m. today via Keyport, N. J. and Boston, for Picton Harbor, Nova Scotia, where it will be turned over to Lieut. Leigh Wade, found the world United States army flyer, on his arrival there aboard the cruiser Richmond. The plane will reach its destination tomorrow night. It will be christened "Betsy II" when Lieut. Wade resumes his flight westward at Picton Harbor.

The air distance between Norfolk and Picton Harbor is approximately 950 miles.

UNITED STATES WILL TALK REPARATIONS
BUT NOT WAR DEBTSAmbassador Kellogg
Makes Our Position
Plain at Proposed Conference of Ministers.

NO OTHER INTEREST

By DAVID M. CHURCH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

London, August 7.—Ambassador Frank B. Kellogg's letter announcing that the United States will participate in the proposed conference of ministers of finance in Paris after the conclusion of the London reparations parley, does not mean that the United States is willing to discuss inter-allied war debts, it was explained at the American embassy this afternoon.

The United States refuses to discuss war debts at this time, maintaining they are definite financial obligations which do not admit of discussion except as to the manner in which they shall be paid.

It is understood here that the Paris conference will be confined only to discussion of the distribution of German reparations. The United States is interested in this issue, due to money owing on account of the upkeep of the United States army of occupation on the Rhine.

One feature of the German combination which is engaging much attention from the experts committee is the request for greater German representation upon the arbitration boards. The delegates are hopeful and do not anticipate any serious trouble in reaching an agreement. It is probable that a "trade" can be made on the question of Ruhr evacuation, France and Belgium promising to evacuate in exchange for an agreement on the part of Germany for an inquiry into Germany's military strength and a promise that the German military police be "demilitarized."

ROUND THE WORLD
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

On board U. S. Cruiser Richmond, off Reykjavik, Iceland, August 7. (By Wireless).—Lieut. Lowell Smith and Erik Nelson, remaining of the United States army pilots who set out to fly round the world, settled down here today to an indefinite wait for the establishing of an air base at Angmagssalik, Greenland, their next objective.

The ice-breaker quest is being chartered to break a lane through the floating ice off Angmagssalik, as this is considered the only available landing spot on the East Greenland coast.

Smith has been hopeful that the delay might not be over five days, but he said today he did not know how long it would be.

It is considered too great a risk for the flyers to omit the stop at Angmagssalik because it is about 850 miles from Reykjavik to Iqviut, the next stopping place, and the planes have a fuel capacity for only 960 miles.

The weather here has been favorable for flying and only the ice floes off the Greenland coast have prevented the intrepid Yankees from continuing their air voyage homeward.

MRS. PATTON ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton is entertaining Hon. and Mrs. M. Clyde Kelley and party today at luncheon at home, Villa Terrace. Besides the Kelley party she will have Hon. W. I. and Mrs. Cwoone and Miss Alice Dell, of Clearfield. Mr. Kelley is the orator of the day at the Sunday School Field Meet at Curwensville today, and Mrs. Kelley, who is an intimate friend of Mrs. Patton, accompanied him.

County Gets $7,933.50
From Gasoline Tax

Harrisburg, Aug. 6.—Clearfield county will receive $7,933.50 as its one-fourth share of the emergency gasoline tax of two cents a gallon collected by the State during the first six months of the year. The report issued by State Treasurer Snyder for the period ending June 30, 1924, shows gasoline taxes amounting to $31,735 were collected in Clearfield county during the past six months.

Receipts for the first year under the emergency tax totaled $7,623,940.79, as compared with $3,255,596.63 at the one cent tax has been collected from two cent tax since July 1, 1923, and a total of $81,197,039 gallons of gasoline is represented in the collection. In the past six months $3,941,680.62 was collected, of which $985,420 will be returned to the counties in the proportion of one-half cent for every two cents collected.

The first year's operation of the emergency tax shows the gasoline tax will yield approximately $12,000,000 during the two-year period, considerably more than was estimated during the session of the legislature. From the two cent tax $1,905,985 was returned to the counties during its first year's operation while at the old one cent rate the counties received $1,627,784.

Collections for Western Pennsylvania counties for the six months period from January to July 1, 1924, of which they will receive one fourth were as follows:

Allegheny $576,147; Armstrong $26,506; Beaver $43,474; Butler $39,016; Cambria, $66,875; Centre $24,595; Clearfield, $31,735; Crawford, $28,832; Erie, $58,833; Fayette $31,007; Greene $11,494; Indiana, $21,594; Lawrence $45,515; Mercer $40,435; Venango, $30,555; Warren $12,580; Washington $72,800; Westmoreland, $109,522.

Mrs. Arthur Daniels and children, of Johnstown, are visiting at the home of Otto Shaw at Bishston.

Curtin Peters and family of Woodland, spent Monday last at Sanborn.

Real "Concrete" Talk

About fifty members of the Clearfield Rotary Club braved the dangers of the sizzling weather and the effects of one of Jordy's dinners and attended the weekly meeting of the Club at the Hotel Jordan last evening. When Jordy placed a plate of fine roast lamb, with minute sauce and all the trimmings before each diner President Gurney Smith arose to the occasion and announced that formalities and coats should be cast aside for the present occasion, and, after "stripping for action" every diner horned in on that dinner regardless of the heat.

At the conclusion of the feed Engineer Stewart, who represents the engineering concern which planned the new grandstand at the Park and who is inspecting the building of same as it proceeds, was introduced and favored the Rotarians and their guests with an instructive talk on reinforced concrete construction, together with a few highly interesting sidelights on the new grandstand. Mr. Stewart was a pleasing speaker and his remarks were greatly appreciated.

President Gurney announced that the next meeting would be held on Tuesday, Aug. 12th, at Lakeside Park, Morrisdale, the occasion being the inter-club meet participated in by Clearfield, Philipsburg and Huntingdon Rotary Clubs. He urged a full attendance.

Guests present last evening were Messrs Hershey of Clearfield; Wilson and Ludlum, of Pittsburgh; Rotarians Kenney and Johnston, of DuBois.

D'VIS SOUGHT HELP

By KENNETH CLARK
(International News Service Staff
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 7.—Strongly entrenched behind the La Follette-Wheeler line, the heavy guns of the American Federation of Labor today swung from the Democrats to lay down a new barrage against the Republicans.

This time Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential nominee, was made the special target of the federation's artillery that already has raked John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

Matthew Woll, official spokesman for Samuel Gompers, Federation president, in a formal statement following the secret session today of the Federation's executive council here, declared that while "Dawes takes second place on the Republican ticket, he is doing his best to take first place in the ranks of bourgeoisism."

"It is particularly desirous that the correspondence between William B. Wilson and Samuel Gompers should not lead to the conclusion that the American Federation of Labor is expressing itself in only on direction," Woll said.

"We have been gathering a considerable mass of material relating to the record of Dawes in connection with labor and this we intend to use as the time seems opportune."

Reasons Given For Bottom Dropping
Out of Coal Business by Well Informed
Who Differ On Cause And Remedy

By CHARLES O'NEIL

(Secretary Coal Producers Association.)

At a gathering of coal men recently, Charles O'Neill, secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Producers Association, delivered an address in which he outlined in considerable detail what he considered the basic cause for much of the depression that is existing in the coal industry of this district at the present time. The speech, as the conclusions of one who has been a close student of the problem, is worth reading, the text being as follows:

The bituminous coal industry in Central Pennsylvania is in the most depressing condition that has been witnessed for many years. Our production is considerably less than one-half of our capacity, and in the present month is running on the basis of about 40 per cent of actual productive capacity. Such condition means of course great financial losses to owners of mining properties, great financial losses to the coal carrying roads serving our mines, and great financial losses to the miners and the business men throughout the 14 counties that make up our district. Measured in dollars, the losses to all classes of citizens and to all communities run into millions of dollars monthly.

If these losses were merely the toll we were paying for our share of the general depressed business conditions obtaining throughout the country and conditions would change for better with a general increase in business, we would have little cause for worry about the future prosperity of this industry and the communities of this section of the state. Many people mistakenly believe this to be the case.

Coal is the basic industry of Central Pennsylvania and its general prosperity depends upon coal production almost entirely. Part of the difficulty of our business is due, of course, to the general business depression, but much of it is due to other causes which lie deeper and which must be rectified before our district can again assume its place in the bituminous coal mining and the proportionate share of the general prosperity of the country due to us permanently secured for our district.

In giving expression to my opinion, I wish it understood at the outset that this opinion was formed by investigation, out of experience and with some thoughtful consideration, and it is the result of analysis of facts apparent to all familiar with the mining industry and obtainable by everyone.

The conclusions have not been reached on the basis of partisanship, neither are they offered as an apology. They are a statement of facts.

During the first six months of 1924, the United States produced 227,000,000 tons. Central Pennsylvania produced 19,440,000 tons or 8.5 per cent. The figures show that from the period of 1890 to 1910 the bituminous coal production in the United States approximately doubled every decade. From 1910 to the present time the proportionate increases in coal production have not been nearly so great as in the preceding twenty years.

During this period the State of Pennsylvania has dropped in production from 38 per cent to a figure varying between 25 and 30 per cent, while West Virginia has increased its production from 6.5 per cent to approximately 20 per cent of the total production of the country. Our district has decreased its production from approximately 14.5 per cent in 1890 to 8.5 per cent during the first six months of 1924. Bear in mind that 1 per cent of the total production of the country means, roughly, 5,000,000 tons.

By JOHN BROPHY

(Pres. District No. 2, U. M. W. of A.)

President John Brophy, District No. 2, United Mine Workers, read a partial text of the speech delivered recently by Charles O'Neill, secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Producers Association, and has made reply to the assertions as set forth by Mr. O'Neill. Mr. Brophy claims that the condition existing in District 2 is similar to that existing in the non-union fields and that a reduction in wages will not bring about any better stabilization of the coal industry. His statement is as follows:

"Ever since the scale agreement was signed by the Operators' Association of Central Pennsylvania and District No. 2, United Mine Workers, the Association has been carrying on a campaign of propaganda to show that the policies of the Mine Workers are inimical to the best interests of this district, and are responsible for the lack of work in the district."

"In keeping with this policy, Mr. Charles O'Neill, secretary of the Operators' Association, at a banquet recently held in DuBois, made an address in which he submitted figures and adduced arguments in support of his contention for a lower wage scale for the mine. Thus Mr. O'Neill contends is necessary in order to secure business for the district."

"The trouble with Mr. O'Neill's statement is that it conveys the impression that the union fields alone are suffering from slack work. Such is not the case and no one knows this better than Mr. O'Neill. All districts are affected by slack work, non-union as well as union. The last report issued by the U. S. Geological Survey for week ending July 13th shows non-union Westmoreland county with a percentage of full time output of 41.1 per cent; non-union Maryland 37.6 per cent, while Central Pennsylvania is given at 29.4 per cent. The New River field of West Virginia, also endorse presidential candidates until after Davis' acceptance speech. Gompers replied that the suggestion was "utterly impossible and inconceivable." At the same time, the Federation chief denied Wilson's statement that Davis took the lead in passage of such labor legislation as the Clayton act and the Adamson law, and in averting the threatened 1917 railroad strike.

Gompers also pointed out that Davis, shortly after his nomination, had tried to arrange an interview, and also sought to get from the labor chief "a statement of questions in which labor is chiefly interested at the moment." Gompers offered to meet Davis "at any time designated by you (Davis)," but could not "submit questions which would not be equally submitted to other candidates for the presidency."

"I have heard nothing further from Davis," said Gompers, discussing the subject.

Woll said: "It is not impossible that both sides may seek to recover some of their lost favor through the medium of acceptance speeches, but no amount of talk can change a record of action. We have had about thirty conversational friendships."

"For example," he continued, "there is a consistent anti-union activity on the part of General Dawes. Dawes served in the world war. So did many thousands trade unionists. So did

Samuel Gompers. During these tense months, General Dawes was not saying anything at all slanderous about trade unionists. Neither was any other politician or any other general in the army.

"But no sooner is General Dawes back in his office in the Central Trust Company of Illinois, at Chicago, than he began organization of what he calls 'the minute men of the constitution.'"

"This organization has concerned itself chiefly fighting the organizations of labor and in upholding the right of judges to issue injunctions which have no warrant in law or in the constitution and which was used in industrial disputes, order workers to do what they have a lawful right to refrain from doing and order them not to do things which they have a lawful right to do."

"General Dawes has said that Samuel Gompers and other trade union officials are more concerned about right of union men to assault and murder peaceful citizens than about upholding the law of the land."

"No one has made a more vicious and unwarranted declaration than that."

AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Ninety seven game law violators have been placed upon the blacklist of the State Game Commission and will be denied licenses to hunt during the coming season.

A list of the men who have been punished for their disregard of the game laws was mailed today to all the game officers and county treasurers in the State. The treasurers were asked to see that no license to hunt are issued to the men whose names are included in the blacklist. Applications for hunting licenses are now being filed with the county treasurers in all sections of the State and the county officials are charged with the task of seeing that no men whose licenses have been revoked do not secure the permit to hunt.

Every variety of game law violation is included in the list of revocations. Killing of songbirds, hunting out of season, discharging fire arms while intoxicated and slaughtering of animals in excess of the legal limit resulted in the major portion of the revocations. Many of the hunters were placed upon a two year blacklist while others are to be denied licenses for one year.

The men who have been punished for infractions of the game laws are liable to a fine of $40 for each day they hunt in the event that they secure licenses under their own or assumed names. A similar fine is also to be levied if they seek to circumvent the punishment by hunting without a license.

The number of license revocations forms but a very small percentage of the total number of 500,000 licenses issued last year. Apparently the sportsmen are a law abiding group for there have been but 296 licenses revoked in the entire history of the Game Commission.

Included in the list of men punished by the Game Commission are sportsmen from every county in the State. Clearfield county furnishes just eight of the total.

Of this number, John Gnae, of DuBois, appears to have been the worst offender. He will be unable to secure a hunter's license in Pennsylvania until on and after May 1, 1928. We do not recall the circumstances of his violation.

L. W. Smith and G. W. Hollobaugh, of Penfield, will not be able to secure a hunter's license until May 1, 1926. Smith and Hollobaugh are put on the blacklist because of an illegal doe which Hollobaugh shot at a lick while acting in conjunction with Smith, he alleged, the latter being a part of the deer.

Raymond Anderson, of Pottersdale, and Joe and J. An Kofroski, of Karthaus, another trio of "lick-shooters," are also blacklisted until May 1, 1926.

Patrick Dullen, of Hawk Run, and G. W. Moore, of Bradford township, are not eligible for a license to hunt until May 1, 1926, their violations of the game laws being of a minor nature. Compared to those of Gnu Smith and Hollobaugh.

A crew of men under the direction of Forest Ranger M. A. Barr of the

Sinemahoning Forest District, is engaged in rebuilding the old Hoover Road from its intersection in Karthaus township with the Karthaus-Sinemahoning township road a distance of seven miles to the present road at Driftwood.

When completed this road will provide a short direct route between Cameron and Clearfield counties, the distance from Driftwood to Karthaus being 19 miles. At the present time it is necessary to travel roundabout routes through Clinton and Elk counties.

The opening of this Hoover Road is in accord with the Dept. of Forests and Waters' plan for the protection and development of the Sinemahoning State Forest, which comprises forest land in Cameron, Clearfield, Clinton and Elk counties.

This route should be an attractive one to tourists and campers, extending as it does through solid woodland and one of the largest unsettled sections of the State, abounding with large and small game and beautiful forest scenery.

The Principle Is Right

The EASY Vacuum Electric WASHER

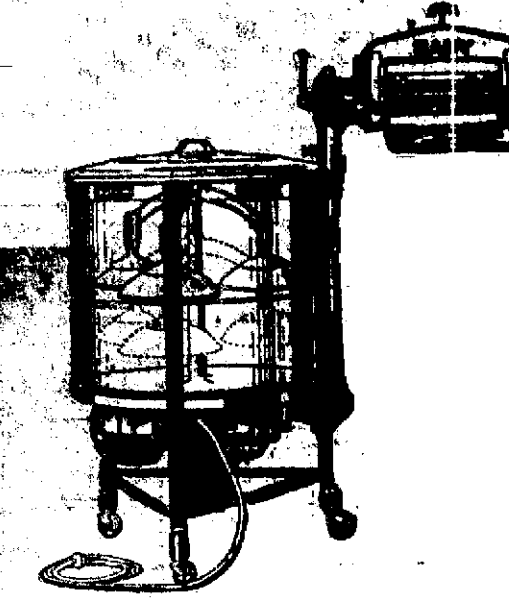

Is the result of 46 years' conscientious development of a basic idea, fundamentally right, namely, the use of the air pressure and suction principle in washing clothes.

In Grandmother's day, the housewives all knew that the "metal cone on the end of the stick" would wash clothes quicker, cleaner and with less wear and tear than by the use of the rub-board. So it has been up to the present time. The modern way to wash clothes is expressed in the fully developed "EASY" Washing Machine. Sturdy, clean cut, bright and sanitary, the "EASY" awaits the touch of a button to do your bidding.

The "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHER with solid copper tank, swinging aluminum wringer and gas water heater, is $155.00.

EXTENDED PAYMENTS
Pleasingly Arranged

The large capacity tank is made of solid heavy gauge copper, highly polished outside and especially finished on the inside to prevent discoloring. It is absolutely sanitary and easily cleaned. From the instant safety release on top of the wringer to the sturdy "three-point" support, easy rolling casters, wheels, "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHER in everything that the careful housewife would ask in a washer.

non-union and so often quoted by the Operators' Association as being an active competitor, shows 39.7 per cent. Mr. O'Neil ought to soon see how futile his efforts are to convince the Mine Workers' Union that a wage reduction is going to better the conditions of the mine workers. Wage reductions in non-union districts have not produced steady work for those districts. The miners here know this and will not be misled by Mr. O'Neil's sophistry.

We expect the Operators' Association to carry out the three-year contract which they signed. Improved working time will come to this and other districts, and with increased business activities, and we have every reason to believe that within the next few weeks there will be some improvement in coal demand and more work at the mines.

REEDSVILLE MEETS DEFEAT

The Reedsville girls' volleyball team was defeated for the first time last evening in a match with the East End girls 13-11 and 15-8. The East End girls put up their best game of the season on last evening's credit for their victory. They had no easy time however for the Reedsville girls kept putting them hard to the finish and still retain their lead in the league. The defeat brings the teams closer together and will put new interest in the contest. A number of rooters were on hand for both teams. The line-ups follow:

Reedsville: Mary and Betty Walker, Ruth and Mable Bloom, Margaret Ryan, Emelie Bain and Nellie McCoy.

by during the period of 1910 to 1920 was because of the abnormal situation created by the Great War. When practically all of the allied nations purchased war materials from our country, creating an abnormal demand for coal which reflected itself in a wartime prosperity in our district. With the passing of the war time prosperity and returning to a consumption basis of peace time, the further restriction of our production and further increase in production in the great fields to the south of us resumed where it had left off, except that the situation has been accentuated by the increased productive capacity due to war time prosperity in all fields. The additional productive capacity developed by war time profits only intensified the present situation.

Today we are blandly informed by the Government that there is development that will produce 350,000,000 more tons than the country requires, and that there are 200,000,000 too many men in the industry; that this abnormal situation is the cause of irregular operation of mines and conducive to great strikes which at times threaten the general welfare and prosperity of the nation.

The effect is recognized, but the cause is not mentioned, and if mentioned, very quietly.

One great cause of irregular operation of mines in the non-union fields is the wonderful expansion, growth and development of the mine industry in the non-union coal fields. The cause of the great expansion and growth in the non-union areas is the ability to produce coal at a lower cost than the union fields. The business is more profitable, and moreover, it is profitable always, even though it be made so at the expense of wage schedules. This fact has tended to increase the development of the non-union fields more rapidly than the country requires. It will continue to cause over-development in the non-union fields so long as the union is able to maintain wage schedules so much higher than the non-union wage schedules as to insure non-union mines a profit.

It is important, however, that the United Mine Workers of America should understand that unless they are able to establish conditions in the union fields of this country, where the coal operators and the coal miners in such fields can compete for the business of the country upon a fair basis with the coal operators and miners of the non-union fields, a continuation of the present basis means ruin to many union coal operators and thousands of union coal miners. If the policy of government as indicated by various statements and decisions and reports is to eliminate the uneconomic coal mines of America by establishing car rules, etc., so as to accentuate the natural law of competition, the union may as well understand that the present policy of wage scale making and enforcement means that all of the union mines in the fields where competition now obtains as against non-union mines may be listed as uneconomic. Operating conditions in the union fields are just as good, just as efficient, the quality of their coal is just as high (and if we believe the union, labor more skilled) as compared with the non-union fields. As between mines where natural conditions are equal, union mines will be wiped out as a result of unfair competition and not the mines that are naturally uneconomic. The union miners must come to understand this: If they are going to have work and their union is going to continue to be a strong force in their lives, they must bear their share of the burden of competition during the period of the struggle "for the survival of the fittest."

Beginning early last year the non-union operators competitive with us began to cut wages from 35 to 40 per cent. below the union wage schedules. These wage reductions have been made continually from that time forward until made effective all mines in Westmoreland, Fayette and Somerset counties of Pennsylvania, all of West Virginia except the mines located on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in northern West Virginia, and all mines in Tennessee, Kentucky and Maryland. Roughly speaking, the non-union fields competitive with Central Pennsylvania produce 200,000,000 tons of low volatile coal annually, against which the union mines of Central Pennsylvania producing 40 to 50 millions of tons must compete. This 200,000,000 tons is being produced at a labor cost under the union scale in our district.

Previous to the Great War the differential cost of production between union and non-union coal were much closer than they are today, the result being that it is much easier for the non-union fields to secure the business today than it was previous to the war.

This policy of imposing upon the union fields a much higher wage schedule than is paid in the non-union fields has already cost the United Mine Workers of America their membership in all of the southern West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee. One by one these fields have been lost to the union since April, 1921. Northern West Virginia, which is the only union field in the state at this time is wavering.

In order to offset the reply that non-union fields are having the same troubles today due to the general business depression of the country as the union fields are having, I wish to quote a few figures showing comparison between our own district and the coal mines in West Virginia located on the N. & W. C. & O., and Virginia Railroads. These railroads include the fields that are non-union in West Virginia.

The carloads of coal originating on these three roads from January 1 to July 12th, 1923 and 1924, are as follows: 1923—657,442 carloads, 1924—739,011 carloads, or an increase in 1924 over 1923 of 72,569 carloads, or 11.04 per cent. During this same period Central Pennsylvania loaded in 1923—454,212 carloads, in 1924—356,451 carloads or 26.42 per cent. True, the prices being received by the southern West Virginia coal operators are not as high as obtained during the war and the abnormal periods of high prices immediately following the war, but these figures do demonstrate beyond all doubt that the non-union

fields are actually increasing their production of coal while the union fields are bearing the total brunt of the business depression affecting the country and in addition are losing much of their regular business to the non-union coal operators.

This strangulation of coal business in Central Pennsylvania due to the ability of the non-union coal operator to produce at a lower cost, is proceeding also in all of the other great union fields of the country, such as Pittsburgh, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. As further evidence of the inroads of non-union competition, approximately 15,000,000 tons of bituminous coal are transported to New England states by water. In 1918, the northern fields shipped 12.75 per cent and in 1923 they shipped 8.5 per cent of the total of this tidewater coal. In 1918 there was shipped from Hampton Roads from the West Virginia fields 56 per cent and in 1923, 69 per cent of this coal. The West Virginia coal received in New York harbor from Hampton Roads in 1922 was 2,391,800 tons and in 1923, 2,500,000 tons. I am informed that 1924 will likely reach a total of 3,000,000 tons. New York Harbor is considered the back door of our district and one of our permanent natural markets.

There were many factors that helped bring our district into this position. Let us pass them over by mere mention of the governmental interference in the making of wage agreements, commissions that investigated some cabinet members and such other highlighting agencies.

The facts are:
1. Over 200,000,000 tons of the coal accessible to the eastern markets and competitive with our coal is being produced from 50 cents to one dollar per ton lower cost than coal can be produced in our district under the union wage scale.
2. The present wage agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, which fixes our cost, will not expire until April 1, 1927.
3. The progress of the decline in production of coal in Central Pennsylvania will be more rapid under the present differential in labor cost of 50 cents to one dollar than it was before the Great War when the differential in labor cost of coal in the union fields as compared with the non-union fields was but from ten to twenty cents per ton.

These facts that ought to be obvious to the United Mine Workers of America have been met with the following declaration by what that organization in a circular letter to its members dated June 16: "Strikes now in effect will be prosecuted until settlements are reached on the basis of the Jacksonville Agreement. There will be no modifications of existing wage agreements now or later." This declaration, April 1, 1927, means the financial ruin of a large number of coal companies and business men in this district; the impoverishment of miners and other laborers in nearly all communities of our section.

Today union operators and union miners can ask themselves the question: Do our present methods of conducting our business, as compared with the methods of those operators and miners who do not conduct their business in like manner, pay?

They can find answer in the depreciated value of the union properties; the idle mines and idle miners in our towns; the bankrupt companies, and the actual distress existing among miners in the union fields. They will find properties in the same seam with the same quality of coal and same type of equipment in a non-union field worth one hundred per cent more for sale in a market than the same properties in a union field. They will find more or less regular running time, higher earnings and more prosperity in the non-union districts.

Such a situation cannot continue indefinitely. The United Mine Workers will have to demonstrate to the union coal operators before the expiration of this agreement that it will give them an equal opportunity to do business. Financial ruin of a great industry and desolation of large communities is too high a price to pay to support a false theory of wages.

The United Mine Workers control approximately 60 to 70 per cent of the bituminous coal production in the United States. This it has demonstrated upon several occasions. The intelligent exercise of the control of 60 to 70 per cent of bituminous coal production would make it worth while to do business with that organization.

Collective bargaining as it has been practiced in our district for twenty-five years with the United Mine Workers is not undesirable. It has many sincere and earnest advocates among the coal operators. Collective bargaining, however, must be valuable to both the operators and the miners. If the United Mine Workers cannot exercise such intelligent control of the situation as to make it valuable to the people whom it represents, and with whom it does business, it will lose its prestige, its influence and its control.

Within reasonable limits, production costs must be equalized between the union and the non-union produce of coal. The influence of the United Mine Workers has not been sufficient to maintain reasonable comparable wage schedules in the non-union sections of this country as compared with the wage schedules of the union districts. Under normal conditions it has always failed in its efforts to do so. There is only one way left open for the United Mine Workers to maintain its prestige, protect its influence and secure its control, and that is by meeting the competitive situation created by the present wage scale and demonstrating to the non-union sections of this country by placing the union mines upon a fair competitive basis with the 30 to 40 per cent non-union production that is now destroying the business of large union coal fields.

This would require the courage to temporarily suspend the operation of their present wage schedule until they have shown the non-union coal operators that the advantage of lower costs they have enjoyed at the expense of union wages is no more. When they have done this their boast will be a fact, that the union sets the standard of wages in the mining industry. Today the union is not setting the standard of wages in the mining industry. The coal is being mined in these fields where wages have been fixed upon a lower basis than the Union will accept. In my opinion, this is the only road open.

The adoption of such a course will bring that measure of real stability into the industry necessary to dislodge out of the business the unit and keep in the business the fit. It will do the entire industry a real and great service. It will assure the continuation of proper wage scales and living conditions in all coal mining communities whether they are unionized or non-unionized. It will stabilize production costs, which is the first essential to stabilization of the industry.

LAFOLLETTE COMES OUT FLAT-FOOTED AGAINST THE KLAN

States He Is Unalterably Opposed to Aims and Evident Purposes of the K. K. K.

QUOTES LINCOLN

By H. K. REYNOLDS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, August 8.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent candidate for the Presidency, announced today that he was opposed to the Ku Klux Klan.

The announcement was made in a letter to Robert P. Scripps of New York City, who has inquired as to LaFollette's attitude.

"Any one familiar with my record especially in my own state, knows that I have always stood without reservation against any discrimination between races, classes and creeds," LaFollette said.

"I hold that every citizen is entitled to the full exercise of his constitutional rights.

"I am unalterably opposed to the evident purposes and secret organization known as the Ku Klux Klan as disclosed by its public acts. It cannot long survive."

LaFollette said he deemed it "most unfortunate that questions involving religious opinions and other questions unrelated to the vital issue of the restoration to the people, have been raised in this as in other critical years of our national history."

"Such controversies," he declared, "lead upon and inflame prejudice and passion to the exclusion of issues involving the very life of Government itself."

"In my view the one dominant issue of this campaign, is to break the combined power of the private monopoly system over the political and economic life of the American people. Free government cannot long exist side by side with economic despotism."

"To this issue, in so far as I am able, I shall hold the attention of the voters of this country. From this position I shall not be turned aside."

LaFollette said that in his opinion the Ku Klux Klan was "foredoomed" because it has within its own body the seeds of death.

Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson were quoted by LaFollette in support of his stand against the Klan. He inserted in his letter an excerpt from a letter written by Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., on August 24, 1855 in which Lincoln declared he would prefer to move to Russia "where despotism can be taken pure and without the base alloy of hypocrisy."

WORLD'S LARGEST BIBLE. EVERY PAGE WRITTEN BY SEPARATE INDIVIDUAL, IS READY FOR INSPECTION

Portland, Me., Aug. 8.—The world's largest Bible, every page of which was handwritten by a separate individual, will be ready for public inspection this week, the Maine Bible Society announces.

The volume represents the combined efforts of 1,607 individual contributors during the past year.

Pages were inscribed by a woman past 91, a child 6½ years, a millionaire, a bankrupt, a college president, a man who had almost no schooling, the governor of Maine and a life prisoner.

Protestants, Catholics, Greek Orthodox church members, and Jewish rabbis aided in the unique work.

Every page of the book of Ruth was written by a girl of that name, and where possible the same idea was followed in compiling other books.

Total weight of the handwritten Bible is 88½ pounds, its pages measure 29 by 23 inches, and the volume is 4½ inches thick.

HEALTH CERTIFICATES ORDERED BY STATE FOR CHURCH FOOD SALES

Pottsville, Aug. 8.—Men, women and children who sell articles of food at church bazaars and fairs, including soft drinks, must all have health certificates, the State Board of Health ruled today.

It is estimated that every town in the state has hundreds of citizens who aid in sales for the benefit of churches, few of whom comply with the law.

Because of doubt in the matter, and the far-reaching character of the issue, the Pottsville Board of Health asked for the opinion and Health Officer Richard has been ordered to strictly enforce the ruling. This means that workers at church bazaar must have the same qualifications as restaurant waiters.

Defense Changes Its Tactics In Trial Of Chicago Boy Killers

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 8. (INS)—Course for the defense in the Leopold-Loeb trial changed tactics today.

At a conference of the lawyers who are seeking to save the two defendants from the gallows it was decided to put on the witness stand only "a few more" of the large number of lay witnesses, college classmates and friends of the boys who were summoned to testify concerning the so-called oddities and eccentricities that marked their school careers.

This decision will enable the defense to close its case by Monday, according to Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel.

Two more alienists, it was said, probably will be put on to testify the mental condition of "Babe" and "Dickie."

The first witness put on the stand today was Dr. Robert Bruce Armstrong, the Leob family physician at Charlevoix, Mich., who testified that he had treated young Leob several years ago when the boy had a series of fainting spells following an automobile accident.

"Were these spells normal or abnormal?" asked Darrow.

"I thought they were the result of the accident," replied the physician. State's attorney Crowe thought it was so unimportant that he didn't cross-examine him at all.

When court recessed at noon, the defense had practically concluded its list of lay witnesses, outside of the relatives of the two boys, and it was planned to return to the alienists at the afternoon session.

Philadelphia—The career of a colored "peeping Tom" ended suddenly here when he ran afoul of three nurses attached to the Womens' college hospital. Discovering him peeping into the window of their apartment early today, Miss Elsie Martin, one of the nurses, left the apartment and poked a pistol in his ribs. The other two nurses summoned the police.

Mrs. A. B. Knight, of Cherry street, was advised yesterday of the birth of an 11-pound son to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Johnson at their home in Barnesboro. Mrs. Johnson was Ada Knight before her marriage.

It is known nothing party came into town.

"When the Know Nothings get control," LaFollette quoted Lincoln as saying "it (referring to the constitution) will read all men are created except negroes and foreigners and Catholics."

The statement of Jefferson, made in 1803, was that he would never "bow to the shrine of intolerance, or admit a right of inquiry into the religious opinions of others."

"Upon these statements of Jefferson and Lincoln," LaFollette said, "expressing the sentiments which I believe the vast majority of our citizens cherish and to which they will ever rigidly adhere, and upon my views expressed in this letter, I am content to stand without qualification or evasion."

PENNSY-GRAMS

Pittsburgh—Though the temperature dropped nearly 20 degrees yesterday, there were three deaths due to heat prostration according to the coroner's office. Rose Barb, 2, and Robert Kramer, 8 months, were found dead in their beds by their mothers and John Beer, 74, an elevator operator, toppled from his chair at his home from exhaustion caused by the heat. Thundershowers are predicted in western Pennsylvania for today.

Pittsburgh—Mrs. Anna Ritter, 42, was found dead in her home from acute alcoholism yesterday according to the Deputy Coroner. The woman's death brings the total deaths from poison booze for a year in this district to 75.

Uniontown—Major A. Joyce and Lieut. M. Mord, of the United States aviation service are suffering only slightly today after they crashed into a mountain, yesterday trying to descend near here. The airmen were flying from Langley Field, Va., to Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Bakertown—Local and county police are today searching for three bandits, one said to be a woman who robbed the home of Charles Grillo above a garage yesterday here and escaped with $280 in cash. While the woman leveled two automatics at Mrs. Grillo, the two men forced Mrs. Grillo to tell where the money was hid. Mrs. Grillo was found by police lying on the floor with her hands tied behind her and chloroformed.

Philadelphia—Neighbors found Charles McClure, 35, unconscious in his garage last night after it had been struck by a bolt of lightning. McClure revived but suffered severe burns on the shoulder and body. The garage was badly damaged by fire.

Philadelphia—A cooling breeze swept over Philadelphia today. The average temperature for yesterday was the highest this season. A lessening in the number of arrests for crime is the only good accomplished by the heat wave, according to police.

Philadelphia—Mrs. Giovanni was arrested last night and charged with killing Angelo Penillo, a lodger, who was found lying on a bed in the house with three bullet wounds in his head. He died an hour later.

Police refused to accept the woman's story that Penillo shot himself when they discovered the pistol on the opposite side of the room.

She submitted calmly to arrest and insisted on taking her five year old daughter to the station house with her. She admitted quarreling with Penillo.

Franklin—An $1,800 deficit has resulted in Chantanooga in this section of Pennsylvania this year according to guarantors of the enterprise. The report showed a deficit of $400 in Franklin, $800 in Oil City and $600 in Titusville.

New Castle—Benjamin Bolisky, 26, and John McGuire, 27, are in jail today after they tried to rob McMillan's Pharmacy here of "dope." Three patrolmen found them in the drug store early yesterday. After a revolver battle the men were captured. The men confessed according to the police that they were hunting "dope."

Pittsburgh, Pa., August 8 (INS).—The report of Federal Prohibition agents for July shows that 23,492 barrels of beer, 1,158 gallons of alcohol, 94 gallons of whiskey and eight automobiles were seized in that period, in the Pittsburgh district.

Pittsburgh, August 8 (INS).—The twenty vaccination clinics here will remain open, but placards on houses of those refusing to be vaccinated will be removed, according to the latest order of the city health department which is fighting the spread of smallpox here.

Dr. C. J. Vaux, director of the department announced today that additional clinics will be opened if needed. Decision to discontinue the placarding of homes where residents refused to be vaccinated was made following protests of anti-vaccinationists, Dr. Vaux said.

Reading—Neighbors of 80-year-old Jacob Sanders, supposedly penurious recluse, were shocked when his death here this week revealed the fact that he had a fortune estimated at between $70,000 and $80,000. His death was ascribed to lack of nourishment.

Most of his wealth, consisting chiefly of cash and bonds, was found in a tin box in the cupboard. He never married and lived here all his life except during his service in the Civil war. He has no relatives here.

Earl Phillips is spending a few days with a school friend in Philadelphia.

Leads New "Investigations"

There will be another outbreak of "investigations" in Washington Sept. 3. Senator C. E. Roseberry is going to peep through the doors of the Treasury Department and see what he can see. The income tax division and the prohibition unit are to bear the brunt of the investigating. Senators of the first order are forewarned.

N. Y. CENTRAL COACH CLEANER RUN DOWN BY PASSENGER TRAIN

James Vagliotti, aged about 45 and employed as a coach cleaner by the New York Central Railroad Company, was instantly killed this morning when run down by the passenger train due here at 11:30 o'clock from Williamsport. The accident occurred at the curve near the tannery. J. A. Duke was the engineer pulling the train. He said he saw Vagliotti walking along the bank between the track and the river for some distance ahead of his train, and thought of course he would continue on the path he was walking on, but just as the train neared him, without looking up or apparently realizing that a train was approaching, Vagliotti turned and stepped onto the track directly in front of the engine. Sounding his whistle and throwing on his emergency brakes, Duke made every effort to stop the train, but was powerless to do so and the big engine rolled onto him with the wheels sliding and screeching on the rails.

The engine ran over Vagliotti, whose body mangled remains were taken from under the rear of the tender. His head was badly crushed and death was undoubtedly instantaneous.

Vagliotti, who resided on top of the hill, near the old cemetery, leaves a widow and several children. He was a very small man physically but hardworking and industrious. He had been employed at the new grandstand in the Park, but was called back to his coach-cleaning job on Friday of last week, he having been employed by the N. Y. C. before the recent shut down of activities in the local yard.

Undertaker F. B. Leavy removed the remains to his undertaking rooms, where they were prepared for burial.

Mrs. J. D. Connelly and Mrs. W. J. Leavy left yesterday for Snow Shoe, where they will spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Markel.

BORN IN BATH TUB, BABE IS DROWNED

San Francisco, Aug. 8. (INS.)—In one of the most unusual cases of local medical annals, a baby born to Mrs. Lucy Presdeggo, 30, while she was taking a bath was drowned in the tub here today. Physicians hastily summoned were unable to resuscitate the infant.

Will Lay Cornerstone Of New Catholic Church At Osceola On Sunday Next

The cornerstone of the new immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Osceola will be laid with appropriate and impressive services on Sunday, afternoon, August 10th, at 3 o'clock.

The religious ceremony of laying the cornerstone will be carried out in its fullest detail. It is expected that 40 or 50 priests from the surrounding parishes will assist in the services.

The corner stone was executed in Indiana, of Indiana limestone. The receptacle cut in the stone and containing a copper box will contain the names of the president and vice president of the United States, the governor and lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, the judge of this county, the mayor of Osceola, current copies of newspapers, all 1924 silver coinage, the names of the party laying the cornerstone, the names of the present pastor who is building the church, the bishop of the Erie diocese, the contractor's and architect's names, etc.

Lunch will be furnished gratis by the ladies' committee and young men of the congregation to those from out of town.

The new church, which was designed by architects Morris and McHale, of Scranton, Pa., will be built of brick at a cost of from $100,000 to $200,000. When completed it will be one of the finest Catholic churches in the Erie diocese. Contractor Frank J. Cupples, of Cresson, Pa., has the contract for its erection, while the energetic, hardworking pastor, Rev. M. J. Renehan, is superintending the construction personally.

Weather permitting, an immense crowd from the surrounding territory is expected in Osceola Sunday afternoon. Many Clearfield and Curwensville people will attend.

DEMOCRATS DROP SHIELDS

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 8. (INS).—Returns from Tennessee's Democratic primary today gave Gen. L. D. Tyson, Knoxville, a lead of approximately 12,000 over his opponent Senator John K. Shields in the senatorial nomination race. Governor Austin Peay was leading John R. Neal in the gubernatorial fight by approximately 40,000 votes.

Unofficial returns in the senatorial race gave Tyson 48,697; Shields, 36,435.

Postmaster Roseberry And His Clerical Force Entertain Congressmen

Postmaster C. E. Roseberry and his postal force entertained Congressman W. I. Swoope, of this district, and Congressman M. Clyde Kelley, of Allegheny county, at dinner at the Hotel Jordan last evening. Twenty-five people were present and spent both a pleasant and a profitable evening.

Congressman Kelley is the father of the bill increasing the pay of postal workers to somewhere near what should be their compensation and in the course of his remarks following the dinner he touched on that measure. He told of the hard work necessary before they could get it passed in the closing days of the last congress and said he had never been so very much disappointed over anything as he was when he learned that President Coolidge had vetoed the measure, and it was then too late to have it reconsidered. He assured the diners that Congressman Swoope had been an earnest supporter of the bill in the congress and stated that the very same bill vetoed by the President would be the first piece of legislation he would introduce in the coming short session of congress, and felt satisfied it would be quickly passed and put up to the President once more, at which time he looked for favorable action by the Chief Executive.

Mr. Kelley in closing expressed his pleasure at being present and paid pretty compliments to Mr. Alexander Ennis Patton, his hostess during his stay in Curwensville, and Curwensville people generally for the welcome and entertainment given him in that town.

Sea Base For Round The World Flyers Is Being Considered By Navy Men

By DAVID J. WALSH
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

On board U. S. Cruiser Richmond, off Reykjavik, Iceland August 8.—By wireless—On account of the heavy ice pack lying off Angmagalik, Iceland, American army and navy officials may decide to establish a sea base for Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson.

The next move in the round the world flight of the two American army flyers depends upon conditions at Angmagalik. If the Danish Supply ship Gertrude Blak is able to force her way through the ice in the next few days the original plan will be carried out of having the two Yankee airmen make that Greenland port their next stopping place.

If it is decided to eliminate Angmagalik from the stopping places the only alternative will be to establish a sea base as there is no other Greenland port within the flying radius of the machines.

If a sea base is decided upon the planes will obtain their supplies from an American Cruiser.

BIG RAILROAD MERGER

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 8. (INS).—Maintaining their policy of silence when a big deal is in contemplation, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, who already control the Nickel Plate system and the Chesapeake & Ohio, refused to comment today upon reports of the addition of the Pere Marquette and Erie railroads and the merger of all into one of the largest railroad systems in the country.

"No announcement will be made here," it was stated on behalf of the Van Sweringens, "until such time as application is made to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to complete the merger. Reports from New York are based upon statements made there by banking interests active in the projected merger."

NEW LIGHTING PLANS OFFERED TO COUNCIL BY LIGHT COMPANY

Experts Make a Close Survey of the Town's Lighting System and Recommend Changes.

NEED MORE LIGHTS

We have heard so much comment and been asked so many questions concerning the action of Council Monday evening last regarding securing a better lighting system for Clearfield, that we decided to ask Charles J. Day of the Public Property Committee for the communication for presentation on the subject of lighting Clearfield, handed him by the Penn Service Company for presenting to Council with the report of his committee, recommending either one of the two plans, but favoring Plan No. 1 provided the business people affected go along.

The two plans are the lighting experts' reasons for the necessity and enlargement of our lighting system or facilities follow:

Mr. Ira Jay, Chairman Borough Lighting Committee Clearfield, Penna.

Dear Sir:

We are handing you figures and blue prints on the present lighting arrangement, also the changed system with alternate.

The changed systems are the recommendations of Illuminating Engineers, one for the General Electric Company and the other for the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, and includes the recommendations of your own Committee.

Because of the pride we have in our town and to properly illuminate the business section, and at the same time properly light the main arteries of travel and the residential section we have combined the reports of these two engineers.

The figures given herewith have been verified by the Penn Public Service Corporation, and are correct, and are based on a ten year contract which is subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission, since they have informed the Public Service Corporation of this State that they do not look with favor on contracts running longer than five years. If such a contract were not approved, changes in the figures would necessarily be made.

If the rearranged lighting system, and the boulevard system meets with the approval of your Committee and the Council, we suggest an order to furnish service and rearrange the lamps; and that you let our Committee help canvass the business houses and property holders to see if a majority would favor paying for the installation of the post and work incidental districts. Upon immediately signing the petition Council should pass an ordinance to collect the costs and let the bills for installing the system.

Clearfield Street Lighting

The present street lighting system in the borough of Clearfield consists of 64 arc lamps, 1-250 C. P. incandescent lamp and 81-80 C. P. incandescent lamps. However, it is proposed to remove the flag pole at the intersection of Second and Market Streets sometime within the following week and this will eliminate 4-80 C. P. lamps which are now mounted on the pole. It will be necessary to install arc lamp at this point to provide efficient illumination. The yearly cost to the borough for service to this street lighting system after the above changes have been made will be as follows:

FREED INNOCENT MAN

Ville Platte, La., Aug. 8. (INS.)—Freeing of an innocent man from prison was one of the last acts of Eugene Vidrine, Louisiana's slayer of five, just before he plunged to death thru the gallows here this afternoon. Although convicted of only one murder, Vidrine confessed to four others, for one of which Frank Smith, of Orange, Texas, is serving a long prison sentence. The victim was Lee Duke, a taxicab driver of Orange, who was murdered on December 12, 1921. Smith was convicted of the murder on circumstantial evidence.

PROMINENT PHYSICIAN ARRESTED

New York, August 8 (INS.)—Dr. Hadley L. Cannon, well known physician collapsed today when police questioned him in regard to the mysterious death in his office of Miss Monica Maloney 24, of Brookline, Massachusetts. He was held on a charge of homicide.

Law Against Glaring Headlights Will Be Strictly Enforced

Harrisburg, August 6.—Beginning Sept. 2, the State Highway Department will inaugurate a campaign to enforce in Pennsylvania the use of non-glaring motor vehicle headlights. The three months' warning period in which motorists were required to procure approved headlights expires September 1.

Members of the Motor Patrol will operate in pairs along principal highways in Pennsylvania on and after Sept. 2. They have been instructed to stop every motorist whose lights do not conform with the provisions of the law. They will advise the operator of the machine to have irregularities in lenses or headlights corrected at once.

"Ideal lighting results can be obtained only through the proper adjusting of the electric bulb and tilting of the headlights," said Registrar Benjamin G. Eynon today. "When the motorist gets the proper adjustment of a Class 'A' lens or device he will have better illumination for night driving."

"Our campaign which begins Sept. 1 will be one of education, rather than prosecution. The Patrolmen assigned to this work are being given a special course of instruction on the subject of headlights and their adjustments. The lenses approved in Pennsylvania Sept. 1 are those approved by the Eastern Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators, and are the only legal lenses in 13 eastern states and two Canadian provinces.

The lenses legal in Pennsylvania week-end in Phillipsburg.

THREE HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Chambersburg, Pa., August 8. (INS.)—Injured when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train at Milnor, Crossing last night, a brother, sister, and a three year old child are in a hospital here today in a critical condition.

Two girls who were also in the automobile jumped before the crash and escaped injury.

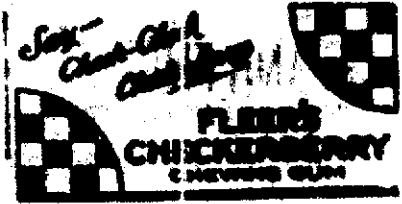

The injured, James Kenyon, his sister, Mrs. Samuel Sacrey, and her baby son, Edward, are all from Waynesboro.

Miss Virginia Wilson will spend the week-end in Phillipsburg.

MARRIED AT CUMBERLAND

Clair Ogden and Miss Florence Jay surprised their many friends by slipping down to Cumberland August 2nd and getting married. They returned home Sunday. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jay of Ogden avenue and an employe at the Speck wall paper store. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ogden of Hillsdale and an employe at Clearfield machine shops. They are now at their home on South Second street. Their many friends wish them lots of happiness and success.

County Treasurer Rumberger received a supply of 1924 hunters licenses Monday and already, or up to, Thursday, 208 had been issued. It fell to a Centre county hunter, Haggerty, of Philipsburg, down license No. 1. He had a fight with the County Treasurer, being his brother-in-law.

By filling a small creek to overflowing the same storm which fired the Millville Lutheran church also prevented its destruction. The building was fired by lightning and Newark fire companies were called. By the time the firemen had reached Millville, a small stream near the church, which had been dry for several weeks, was overflowing the banks, furnishing ample water supply for a large pump or used to extinguish the blaze.

Pennsylvania voters will be asked to decide at the November election whether or not they favor holding a constitutional convention. Officials in the Bureau of Elections have completed the forms for submission of the question, which will be the only Statewide question submitted this fall. The decision of the Supreme Court holding submission of the proposed amendment providing for payment of a bonus to World War veterans is unconstitutional.

If a majority of the voters next November favor the convention, delegates will be nominated at the 1925 Spring primaries and elected at the November, 1925, general election. The convention would meet in the Capitol building Tuesday in January, 1926. Each State district would be represented by three delegates to the convention. Each political party would nominate two candidates. At the general election, voters would vote only for two. However, each district represented in the convention would elect candidates receiving a majority of the vote, a method which would provide for submission of the question to the people, the voting delegates and the voters at the convention was provided for in the 1921 Legislature. It was proposed by the League of Women Voters and others.

Curwensville people, or some of them at least, must have done some mean thing to the weather man some time, because every time Curwensville advertises a big day or worth while celebration the success of which depends on fair weather, when the appointed time arrives, regardless of how much or how little rain they have had in the far distant or near past, along comes old Jupe Pluvius with the proverbial "tear in his eye like a traveling rat" and immediately all the day long floods the landscape o'er with long and copious showers.

Yesterday's County Sunday School Field Day, which promised so much for those interested and the young people so vitally concerned, was the last really worth while occasion recently spoiled by rain.

Grant Norris has promised to get the Dog Star after old J. P. a week or so before the big Yellow Dog celebration arranged for Labor Day and if he can't chase the "ould divil" and his watering can so far enough away to guarantee dry weather on that occasion Norris promises to tie a can to the aforesaid Dog Star's tail and send him helter skelter to the demitition bow wows, where he belongs if he can't get something done toward chasing Curwensville's weather Jinx into its hole for all time. And here's hoping.

Not merely must the roads be widened to hold automobile traffic, but many ditches need to be enlarged to hold the speeders.—Newark Advocate

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime-salts in the arteries, veins and joints. We often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," is bound to give immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia, in ridding the impoverished blood of its poisons by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store, by simply asking for "Anuric" for kidneys or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising from bed at night.

Send to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a ten-cent trial package, or ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache remedy). "Anuric" is a new medicine. A year ago I was all crippled up with rheumatic pains. My back and kidneys were so bad that I could scarcely change the position of my body and I was in torture all the time I was working. My bladder gave me trouble particularly at night, when I was disturbed frequently. I had no idea there was such a medicine as Anuric until a neighbor told me of it, and it has brought about a wonderful change in my life. It has cleaned and strengthened the kidneys and bladder so that I have no restless nights, or painful working days. I am unable to praise "Anuric" enough; it is worth more praise than I can give it."—Sam Rinker, 240 Franklin St.

Tuckahoo a Puzzle

Famous Jockey, 'Tis Said
Will Never Ride Again

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 7. (INS.)—Earl Sande, world's most famous jockey, will never ride again, it was said today by physicians at the Saratoga hospital, where Sande was taken after the spill in the first race yesterday afternoon when three horses ran over him.

"Sande's life is not in danger," said Dr. D. C. Moriarty. "He suffered a multiple fracture of the thigh and a possible fracture of a left rib."

Even if the jockey does not lose a leg, racing men said today the breaking of training during the period of recovery will make him too heavy to ride.

An X-ray of the injured leg was to be made by Dr. James Russell, of Roosevelt hospital, New York.

Ten thousand people saw the accident which occurred in the first race as Sande was riding James Butler's "Spurt." Marinelli, on "Senor," on the outside, swerved in suddenly for position. "Spurt" went down when shoved by other horses.

Sande was flung into the air and hit the turf directly in front of the other horses. "Speckled Beauty," "Semper," and "Houlihan" stumbled over the prostrate jockey.

Sande game dragged himself to the fence out of the way of the horses in the rear.

The jockey's beautiful young wife, who witnessed the accident, was still prostrated today. She collapsed at the track.

Marinelli, blamed by the judges and spectators for the accident, was suspended. The jockey club stewards were expected to act on his case today.

Wrapping Foil

Fine wrapping foil is made of tin put through a roller process. It may be cut into special lengths, into sheets or stamped out into shapes of various kinds. Of lower grades are numerous kinds of composition metal. Some of the heavy foil runs one eighth of an inch in thickness. This is really a lead foil. The heavier foils have numerous industrial uses, being used as condensers in automobiles, in making detonating caps and largely in the printing and electrical trades. Edison wrapped the cylinder on which he was making one of the earliest phonograph records in a sheet of the same substance.

Uses Plate Glass

A majority of the plate glass now produced in America is used by the automobile trade.

Progress Editorials for Women

POOR, BUT GRACIOUS

When St. Francis of Assisi forsook the world and pledged allegiance forever to that harsh mistress, Poverty, he managed to keep what Chesterton calls, "one rag of luxury." That little lingering remnant of luxury was not a silken shirt nor a dainty meal, not a golden ring for his finger or a soft pillow for his head. Oh no. All of these things, for the sake of his vow, he forswore. The thing he kept spoke even more eloquently of a gentle way of life, though it brought no ease to his body or soft raiment for his skin.

It was the luxury of beautiful manners.

These, Chesterton calls "The Great attainable amenities" which lent grace to his "Mistress Poverty."

The great attainable amenities, big words those—what do they mean? Amenities, the things that, as often, that compensate, that make up to us for lack of something else, rewards of life. And the attainable ones are those that can be had for the ask, or the striving.

What are these things? I've named some of them often before. Friendship, beauty, kindness, music that's free for all to hear, great pictures in the galleries with their wide open doors, a day's outing in the ever lovely country, a good book, a true friend, these are the amenities of every day life for you and me.

If we have wealth, or even a sure sufficiency, it is more easy to multiply these rewarding things of life.

If we have not, they have a rude way of slipping away from us, so that much of life seems harsh and hurtful and unrewarding. But in the midst of poverty, such as most of us have never known nor dreamed St. Francis of Assisi retained this one amenity of courtly manners.

Even little homes, poor homes, that cling to the small courtesies of life have about them a kind of noble rewarding grace which robs existence of the utterly dreary.

It is easy enough to make fun of the books on manners which tell us all so naively which fork to use, and what to say to the guest who calls.

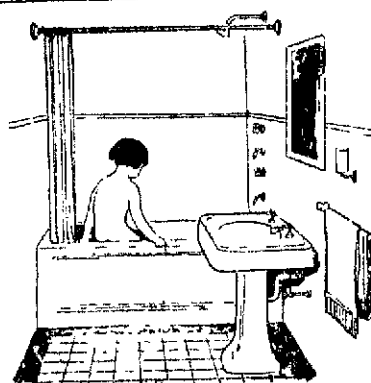

They are a little foolish, these books, because they are so self-conscious. Laugh at them all you will but read them, for it is not a bad thing that we moderns are beginning to want to carry on the daily business of living in a little finer way.

The fact that the noblest manners spring from the heart is very true. But centuries of experience have taught civilized people the best and finest way of expressing the prompting of a kind and thoughtful heart; and it doesn't hurt us a bit to profit by the practical outcome of this experience.

And besides, along with the actual practice of gracious manners, there comes an increased graciousness of heart.

So laugh at the literature of etiquette all you want to, but laughing and ponder.

Five Dead Is Report
From Path Of Tornado
Through Wisconsin

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 8. (INS.)—Five persons were reported dead today, a score or more injured and property damage running into thousands of dollars, as a result of two tornadoes which levelled twenty square miles of growing grain, many farm houses, barns, a canning factory, uprooted trees and destroyed wire communication in Western Wisconsin late yesterday, according to advices received here over crippled wires.

The known dead: Percy Walter, Bloomer, Wis.; Julius Baglier, farmer, residing south east of Osseo, Wis.; Richard Secora, 25, living on a farm near New Auburn, Wis.

Two others were reported to have been killed near Bloomer.

The first of the tornadoes started in the northeastern part of Trempealeau county, near Osseo, Wis., where it cut path two miles wide and more than ten miles long in the direction of Black River Falls, Wis.

The second tornado which appeared an hour later descended at New Auburn, Wis., in Chippewa county and moved south through Bloomer and spent its force about five miles south of the latter place.

Houses, barns, outbuildings, trees, telephone and telegraph lines were wrecked and many homes were reported unroofed at Black River Falls, Wis.

Brookfield, Ill., Aug. 8 (INS.)—Heavy damage was inflicted at Stockton, Ill., by the cyclone which prostrated wires in Illinois and Iowa today, according to fragmentary reports received here.

Early reports stated that Stockton, a town of 1,500 inhabitants was nearly wiped out by the storm.

Whiteville, N. C., August 8 (INS.)—Elizabeth Strickland, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd Strickland, is safe at her home today, after having been carried nearly a mile by a bear and left unharmed in a ditch. The bear carried the baby away while she was playing with her four year old brother Eddie, who was too terrified to give any accurate details.

The bear, which apparently was tame, is believed to be the same one which escaped from a carnival company here.

Mrs. Frank B. Rowe of Riverside, Cal., but formerly of Clearfield, is visiting her daughter Mrs. Earl B. Shirey. She will visit in Clearfield until October 1st.

Million Dollar Fire
In Philadelphia Plant

Philadelphia, August 8 (INS.)—A watchman is missing and five firemen are injured as the result of a fire which destroyed the Coconut Oil plant of the Gorgas-Pierie Manufacturing Company and damaged the adjoining plant of the Bisbee Linseed Company early today.

Exploding cans of Coconut oil endangered the lives of 50 women who were in the building when the fire started. All escaped, but Walter Smallwood, colored watchman, last seen near a coconut container, which later exploded.

Quick work by firemen and others prevented the fire from spreading to a ship, loaded with oil, anchored nearby. The loss may reach $1,000,000.

Brophy Says Response To Third Party Call
Is Highly Satisfactory

The call for a conference for Progressive political action in the 23d Congressional District which is to be held in Reilly's Hall, Clearfield, Pa., at 1:30 p. m., August 10, is meeting with hearty response on the part of local labor bodies throughout the district, according to a statement issued today by John Brophy, president of District No. 2, U. M. W. of A.

He says strong sentiment for La Follette and Wheeler is in evidence. Local unions in the different counties are electing delegates to attend the Sunday meeting and it is expected that a large representation will be on hand. The conference will prepare plans for forming district and county organizations, as well as town and township organizations within the counties.

Speakers who will address the conference are J. A. Fox, Pennsylvania legislative agent of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen; Paul W. Fuller, secretary of the Farmer-Labor Party in Pennsylvania; and John Brophy, president of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America.

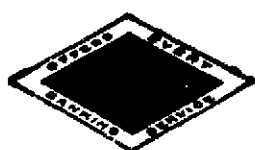

WILL ATTEND NOTIFICATION

Editor John F. Short, one of the district delegates to the recent Democratic National convention, will leave tomorrow for Uniontown, where he will join ex-State Chairman Bruce Sterling and continue on to Clarksville, W. Va., to attend the notification meeting for Hon. John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate.

Joseph Ianaro and Thomas Spingola, with a part of their families, returned home last evening from a delightful motor trip to New York City, where they visited Mr. Ianaro's sister.

Forgotten Masterpiece

An old picture entitled "Jesus Baptized in the River Jordan" was sold at Antwerp the other day. A carpenter bought it for only a few francs. Along happened an art critic. He discovered it came from the brush of Rembrandt in 1640. He pronounced it worth at least 2,000,000 francs. But the carpenter refused to listen to any of the numerous offers he has received.—Topeka Capital.

History in History

Records are incomplete, but it is known that the Romans used false teeth and possibly bridge work. The filling of teeth is of later date, a dental bibliography written in 1523 fixing the date of the profession as about 600 A. D.

CRESSON MAN IS RATTLESNAKE VICTIM

Cresson, Aug. 7.—Clement Vaughn is a patient at his home on Keystone avenue suffering from a snake bite on his right ankle inflicted by a five-foot rattlesnake while he was walking through a thicket near the local sanatorium in company with his four children this morning.

Mr. Vaughn and the children were on an old path when he was "struck" by the reptile, which he succeeded in killing. Only a few minutes after being bitten, Mr. Vaughn became ill while making his way toward the sanatorium. Before reaching his destination he collapsed. Fortunately, Charles McIntosh of Lile, who was passing, noticed Mr. Vaughn and applied several tourniquets to prevent spread of the poison, after which he was taken to the office of Dr. J. A. Lanch of the place. The poison is

C. R. BLOOM

Curwensville's Own Column

Gary Brennetti was removed to the Clearfield hospital Friday evening for medical treatment. He had a blister on his foot which gave great pain and considerable uneasiness in fear of blood poisoning. He was resting fairly well last night at late report.

Under the auspices of the American Legion boys yesterday morning flags on staff were planted along Front street, Walnut and Filbert. The national emblems were all of uniform size and floated from the same height. It was a fine display. Of course the flags were those whose owners did not own a flag of this display and no flag was put in front of their property. The property holder purchased the flag and the staff, and the Legion boys carried the poles and placed the flags in place.

A number of Curwensville Red Men went over to Maden yesterday to attend the annual district convention of that organization.

Mrs. Claude Bloom is quite ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. John A. Dine, River street. It is thought that her illness is bordering on an attack of typhoid fever.

Ed Hayes, who conducts a feed business on the Fullerton block, accompanied by his wife and baby, are on a visit to relatives out in the Hawkeye territory. He expects to bring a batch of eggs back with him and breed them to his White Leghorns at his home in henry.

It was the much talked of and widely advertised Sunday Field Day at the Park. During the day the weather was very pleasant and the program a small affair. It was headed by the famous Grampian band, with the home band on the left. It was about the only event occurring worthy of note. The afternoon was a long one to carry out the program. The crowd was not as large as was anticipated. Hon. Richard delivered the address of welcome and Hon. M. Clyde Kelley made the principal address. A choir of about a hundred voices sang several songs. One of the greatest features of the day was listening to the Grampian band, which was directed by Mr. Grampian. The Grampian band is a well known organization, and the day was a grand one for its ability to give the right kind of inspiring music in the right place and time. A ball game in the afternoon.

noon but it had not been reported at this writing.

Walrus Tusks Prized

Ivory carving is becoming a lost art among the Eskimos of Alaska and the ornately carved walrus tusks are much prized by collectors. A generation or so back the artisans who did this work were quite numerous, but they have gradually passed away and the young men have not learned to do it.

Sweet Peas for Porto Rico

Difference in the length of the day in the tropics and summer days of the North has been discovered as one of the chief reasons why sweet peas would not bloom in Porto Rico. This difficulty has been overcome with the introduction of a tropical sweet pea from Australia.

Cities of Refuge

Six of the forty-eight cities given to the tribe of Levi in the division of Canaan were set aside by the law of Moses as places of refuge for the manslayer or accidental homicide. The names of these cities were Kedesh, Shechem, Hebron (on the west side of Jordan), Bezer, Ramoth-Gilead and Golan (on the east side of Jordan).

Waves Will Scare Deer

Deer are especially timid in a high wind and will jump in alarm at the sound of the waves splashing on the rocks, says Nature Magazine. They are very sensitive to sudden changes of temperature, and it is most surprising to find none coming out of the woods when a cold northwest wind blows.

Eggs Hatch on Thread

The leaf fish, an inhabitant of the quiet bays and inlets of the Amazon, may be considered the most curious of fishes, says Nature Magazine. The eggs hatch in three days when the water is kept at a temperature of 25 degrees Centigrade. Normally, the young hatched fish are suspended by threads from the under side of the leaves.

"The Satin Girl"

In Mabel Forrest's first Grand-Asher picture in which she has the stellar role, produced by Ben Wilson and directed by Arthur Rosson, there are a lot of sliding panels and trap-doors, for it is a mystery story called "The Satin Girl." While making the picture Mabel had to emerge from one of the panels and when Rosson called camera, she didn't appear. Instead they heard wild scratchings and thumps on the panel. For it had stuck and Miss Forrest couldn't get out of the small closet-like enclosure in which she was held captive. "Give me the combination," she said, as she emerged finally.

A Cordial Invitation

You and your friends are cordially invited to attend the Opening of the beautiful new banking home of the Curwensville State Bank, which will open for business Saturday, August 9th, 1924.

You are welcome at any time to call and inspect this building, which is one of the most complete modern and up-to-date institutions in this section of the country, yet Saturday, August 9th, has been especially set aside as "Open House for visitors.

The many convenient and complete features of the bank will be shown and explained by the officers, directors and employees, and especially interesting to visitors will be the massive vault which is the last word in vault construction.

In order to give everyone an opportunity to view our banking quarters the bank will remain open during the evening of Opening Day.

Laborites Assail Both Old Parties For Stand On Child Labor Law Reform

PA. KENNETH CLARK, Staff Correspondent, Clearfield, Pa., Aug. 8.—Republicans and Democrats alike were assailed today by the Executive committee of the American Federation of Labor for failing to support the child labor law.

A resolution introduced by Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, for his effort to save the children of the United States from the child labor.

The resolution, which the Republican party has not adopted, was introduced by Congress.

Democrats, similarly, were assailed for not supporting the child labor law.

W. Davies, Democrat, President of the Clearfield County Council, was assailed for not supporting the child labor law.

Day after day its entire session is devoted to the child labor law.

Appointments of the council issued on the child labor law, to be held on the 10th of August.

The council will hold its session on the 10th of August, at 10 o'clock.

Tell Girls

And Women what I do for you
By Edna Wallace Hopper

My office scribbles me countless letters which thank me for new beauty and new youth. Please don't do that. Just tell to other girls and women what you're doing.

I am simply passing on to others what great scientists gave me. The helps that made me a famous beauty, then kept my youth and beauty so my grand old age.

These help number 52 but I have had them combined in four preparations. When you use any one of them you apply quite a number of the best beauty helps in existence.

One is a cream which I call Youth Cream. It combines products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to look after and protect the skin. I use it as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. I have never heard of a cream which brings anything like its results.

Now I am placing my Youth Cream—just as I use it—at every woman's call. All druggists and toilet counters supply it at 60c per jar, also in 25c tubes. Just ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. I promise you that as long as you live you'll be very glad you know it, and I shall be glad for you.

I will send you a sample to try, if you wish. Also my Beauty Book. Just mail this coupon for beauty's sake.
